2 NEW KNOCK OUT ATTACKS AIMED AT ITALY

RAF Hammers Turin War Plants Second Night; Thousands Flee City.

By The Associated Press

RAF warplanes blasted Italy [illegible] again today for the second time in 36 hours, pounding [illegible] Prime Minister Churchill's warning to the Italian people to get out of the war or suffer a [illegible] scientific and shattering [illegible] attack."

Simultaneously, a Reuters (British news agency) dispatch from the Italian frontier reported that 300,000 persons had fled the Fiat arsenal city of Turin, normal population 622,000, since the RAF began its new trans-Alpine [illegible] offensive Oct. 22.

The British air ministry said Turin was again the target of the night assault and that fires started Saturday night were still burning.

Travelers arriving in Turkey from Italy said the Germans were frantically building fortifications [illegible] the German-Italian frontier and along the Balkan side of the Adriatic sea against the day that Italy quits the war.

Bad Weather for Flight

The attack last night was made despite bad weather and the raiding force was reported small in comparison with the strong forces which had previously made the 1,500-mile round-trip flight across the Alps to cut at the foundations of Premier Mussolini's war economy.

"Other bombers attacked railway communications in Belgium," the air ministry announced.

It said two planes were missing.

The Italian high command acknowledged in a communique broadcast by the Rome radio that Turin was a target, but said that the damage was not heavy and that one British bomber fell there.

More than 100,000 incendiaries in addition to 8,000-pound "blockbusters" were dropped over Turin in the Saturday night raid, and one Canadian pilot who took part said the city's buildings were left seething as though they were bubbling with molten lava."

The Italian high command issued a revealing footnote: Damage was great, "especially in the center of the town," its broadcast said, and the number of casualties had not been ascertained nearly 24 hours after the raid.

Reuters, the British news agency, carried a dispatch datelined from the Italian frontier, which reported that 300,000 of Turin's 622,000 population had fled the city under repeated air attacks.

Two enemy fighter planes did high damage in the coastal area of southeast England Sunday afternoon, the air and home security ministries said, but no German aircraft were reported over Britain during the night.

In a Victory broadcast yesterday, Prime Minister Churchill promised that the war would soon be carried to Italy "in a manner not hitherto dreamed of by its [illegible] leaders." And he added significantly:

"We expect to expel the enemy from a long from 2,000 miles of [illegible] coastline. But Africa is a starting place. It is not a seat on a springboard. We shall use this to come to closer grips."

On the Tunisian front in North Africa, American and British forces were reported in position for a climactic assault on Tunis, axis-held capital after occupying the key rail junction at Djedeida, 12 miles northwest of Tunis.

Allied artillery was already drawn up within range of the fortified city.

"Fighting continues on the eastern side of Djedeida," it was announced by allied headquarters in North Africa and the war department in Washington, indicating that the allies were closing in on Tunis.

Allied bombers have made a direct hit on the docks at Bizerte. Bursts were seen on the target.

British Reinforced

A Vichy broadcast said British troops on the Tunisian-Algerian frontier had been reinforced by armored contingents, but declared that the Germans had captured a height in the Tunisian mountains and taken 110 prisoners.

British field headquarters asserted that axis troops had captured "an important position" in the area, stopped armor-supported counter-attacks and captured more than 200 prisoners.

Communications between Tunis and the great naval base at Bizerte, 40 miles to the north, were cut by the allied threats to both cities.

Payroll War Bond Drive To Be Launched Tuesday

10 Per Cent Savings Campaign Leading Up to "Pearl Harbor Day" Proclaimed by Mayor.

The start of the payroll savings drive in Marion city and county was proclaimed today by Mayor Russell C. Snare as final arrangements were being made to launch the campaign Tuesday.

Throughout Ohio and the nation the period from Dec. 1 to 7 has been designated as the time for every concern employing three or more persons to sign up for the payroll savings plan of investing in war bonds, and for those concerns now investing 10 per cent of the gross payroll every pay day to "Top That 10%" by Pearl Harbor Day."

Locally the drive will be climaxed on Dec. 7 by a "Pearl Harbor Day" ceremony on the courthouse esplanade when an honor roll of concerns which have now adopted the plan will be unveiled. If the employes are investing 10 per cent or more of the gross payroll each pay day in war bonds, the percentage will be designated opposite the firm name.

Following is Mayor Snare's proclamation:

"As mayor of Marion I ask all our citizens to take an active part in the campaign of the War Savings Staff for Ohio to enroll every Ohio worker in a war savings payroll plan by Dec. 7, with personal deductions to the limit of each person's ability.

"The War Savings Staff's slogan, "Top That 10 Per Cent by Pearl Harbor Day," will be taken literally here. Most of our industries and businesses have already installed the payroll savings plan. Our job is to see to it that more than 10 per cent of our gross payroll as a community is being converted into War Bonds every pay day.

"Let us dedicate ourselves to this new task. The next seven days will be fateful ones in this community. I feel sure that we will take this opportunity to show the enemy that after nearly a year of war our morale is higher, our resources greater and our spirit of sacrifice stronger.

"I proclaim the period between Dec. 1 and Dec. 7, 1942, as dedicated to the achievement of the goal set by the War Savings Staff for Ohio and ask that labor and management devise means toward making our part a notable contribution in the winning of the war."

Two committees on Tuesday will begin a canvass of virtually every employer in Marion city and county whose employes are not now investing in war bonds through the payroll savings plans.

Harold J. Grigsby, general chairman of the Dec. 1-7 campaign and of the sale of bonds for the month of December, is chairman of one committee and Jerry Passen is chairman of the

Two Important Axis Bases in Africa Nearly Isolated by U. S., British.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Nov. 30—British and American forces, supported by a rising tide of aerial blows at the enemy on both sides of the Mediterranean, have stormed forward to within less than 12 miles of Tunis in a drive which has all but isolated that city and Bizerte, main axis-held strong point in Tunisia.

The allied advance was disclosed today by a headquarters communique which said fighting now was progressing east of Djedeida, which is 12 miles northwest of Tunis on the Tunis-Bizerte railroad. This indicated the allies were driving a wedge straight toward the coast to separate the axis strongholds.

Bizerte was the target of an attack by allied planes which scored hits on the naval base, the communique said, and allied fighters were credited with destruction of four enemy planes in operations over forward areas.

A storm of allied aerial bombs burst upon the axis in North Africa and Italy last night and yesterday, underscoring Prime Minister Churchill's declaration that the enemy soon would be cast from his African toeholds and that the Italians must get out of the war or be bombed out.

Targets in Africa

Tunis, Bizerte and Tripoli were targets of new punishing attacks over the week-end in a prelude to impending assaults by American and British land forces in Africa, and the great Italian in-

Gasoline Rationing To Begin After Midnight

Marion County Applications for Ration Books To Be Continued Today and Tuesday.

After midnight tonight the good old phrase "fill 'er up" will have passed out of the American motoring scene for duration of the war.

Marion city and county vehicle owners were warned today by the Marion county rationing board to have their gasoline ration cards by midnight tonight or face the fact that their cars will be in the garage until they can show a ration card to the filling station attendant.

Some drivers may "coast along" for a day or two on their last "fill 'er up" tonight, but when tanks are empty the cars will be of no further use until the owners have their ration cards.

Open Today and Tuesday

Vehicle owners who do not yet have ration cards may make application until 9 tonight and on Tuesday from 12 noon to 9 p. m. in The Star auditorium on North State street.

Basic "A" cards as well as the supplemental cards will be issued at the auditorium.

So far 6,871 [illegible] cards have been issued and yesterday 2,295 were processed.

Following is the [illegible] each type card [illegible] "B" 2,951; "C" 1,272; "E and R" 2,116; "T" 632.

One of the biggest single volunteer jobs of the supplemental registration period was done yesterday afternoon when some 80 volunteers, including supervisors and review board members, closeted themselves in the auditoriums and spent more than four hours going over a huge accumulation of applications which had been mailed in or brought to the auditorium last week.

The doors were locked and no one outside the volunteer organization was admitted.

By 6 p.m. applications of all the applicants had been checked and cards were mailed to the applicants.

YOUTH ADMITS BLAZE STARTED FROM MATCH

Decorative Palm Tree Ignited Accidentally; 200 More Seriously Burned.

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, Nov. 30—State and county law-enforcement officers went into immediate action today to determine whether any law violation had contributed to the Saturday night fire that suddenly converted the Cocoanut Grove night club into a house of flaming death for 477 merrymakers.

Moving under instructions from acting Public Safety Commissioner John F. Stokes, State Fire Marshal Stephen C. Garrity turned over to District Attorney William J. Foley of Suffolk county a preliminary report of the fire that flared from a match-flame lighted by a 16-year-old bus boy as he sought to replace a light bulb removed by a club patron.

The busboy said that he escaped by rushing to a kitchen and thence up a stairway to a Shawmut street door after making a futile attempt to extinguish the burning decorations.

Meanwhile, a hundred bodies still lay unnamed and unclaimed in the city's morgues, posing a terrific problem of identification to officials who said that many had been burned almost past recognition.

In undertaking establishments throughout New England, preparations were underway for hundreds of funerals.

Hospitals ministered to more than 170 others, trampled and burned patrons—many of whom hovered close to death, in the wake of one of the worst holocausts in the nation's history.

Stories Indicate Violations

As he entered a conference with the state fire marshal, District Attorney Foley declared, "if some of the stories I have read are true, there have been several law violations in connection with the operation of the club."

The first Boston fire chiefs to reach the scene testified that the searing flames spreading through the paper palm trees and other decorations sent a thousand patrons stampeding in a fighting frenzy toward a few exits.

A deputy fire chief told of finding bodies near a closed door whose safety lock—designed to open under pressure—was out of order. Police Commissioner Joseph F. Timilty indicated in an interview that under the law, a 16-year-old boy "isn't supposed to" work in a place where liquor is sold.

The busboy whose match started the inferno was identified by Deputy Police Supt. James R. Claflin as Stanley F. Tomaszewski.

The boy related, Claflin said, that he was trying to replace an electric light bulb which had been unscrewed by a prankster in the recently opened melody room of the club when the match flame brushed the flimsy palm and set off the devastating blaze.

The flames swept through the highly inflammable decorations as the orchestra leader raised his baton to signal for the national anthem as a prelude to the Saturday night floor show. Within seconds the crowded night club was a bedlam as screaming women and horror-stricken men dashed for exits, tumbling over each other on the packed stairways.

Dead Piled High

District Fire Chief William J. Mahoney said that tangled and frightfully burned bodies were found four and five deep and that tables and chairs were scattered and tipped in a shambles among the dead.

Long lines of relatives and friends stood two abreast outside the city's morgues throughout the cold night waiting for a chance to identify bodies, many of them charred beyond recognition.

REDS SEIZE DON RIVER POSITION

Russians Report Germans Die at Rate of Ten Thousand a Day.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, Nov. 30 — Soviet shock troops have wrested another Don river stronghold from the Germans under clearing skies on the Stalingrad front and are now pressing westward through a blizzard in the parallel offensive west of Moscow, the Russians said today.

Germans were declared to be dying at the rate of 10,000 daily as Red army divisions pushed across the snow, utilizing tactics perfected in the 1941-42 winter drive.

While clouds vanished, cold prevailed in the Stalingrad area. Wind-driven snow cut down visibility on the central front. Moscow observers said the joint operations were the greatest undertaken by the Russians in their 17 months of war.

New Lines Broken

New German lines on the east bank of the Don were broken by the Soviet troops and 1,000 more Germans were reported to have paid with their lives for the luckless siege of Stalingrad. The Russian infantrymen were supported by tanks and artillery as they moved forward in the sec-

Calls on People To Help Drown Harmful Rumors

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30—The office of war information called on every American today to help win the war "by toughening his mind and ears" to sensational rumors.

"Every American," OWI said, "can help to win this war by refusing to believe or repeat sensational stories which are not carried by the newspapers or over the radio. Every American can fight the enemy by refusing to spread suspicion and hate in the United States."

OWI, reporting it had compiled more than 4,000 rumors which came to the attention of various federal agencies in the last 12 months, said they had two main lines of attack:

1. "Direct enemy," sponsored by enemy agents, of which the purpose is to create confusion, to undermine the morale of the people, to weaken the will to victory, to create class hatreds, to cause unnecessary strikes.

2. "Enemy connected," which is not directly inspired by the enemy but which is the result of the work of people of good will who, out of ignorance, or of [illegible] wrong conclusions, [illegible] in the main, [illegible] about the progress of the war.

Two Ohioans Die In Fire, Third Missing

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, Nov. 30 — Two Ohioans were listed today among those who lost their lives in the Cocoanut Grove night club fire and a third resident of the Buckeye state was reported missing, believed also to be a victim.

Listed as dead were Hubert R. Fitch, 26, former Lakewood, O., resident, and Ensign Carl B. Russel, son of Roy R. Russel of Dayton.

Missing and believed to have perished in the blaze was Jacqueline Weiss daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hermann Weiss of Cincinnati.

Australians Drive Through to Water's Edge with Support of Planes.

By VERNE HAUGLAND
AP War Correspondent

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, Nov. 30—Australian ground troops, supported by planes and artillery, have captured a beach area about 900 yards east of Gona and have pushed on toward Sanananda, it was disclosed today.

The Australian attack was launched after well-coordinated, all-day air attacks over the Buna-Gona area had softened up some of the beleaguered Japanese positions.

The advance (which apparently has cut through the elongated Japanese beachhead to the coast) is believed to have cut off a pocket at Gona holding several hundred Japanese.

United States Flying Fortresses dropped many thousand-pound bombs on the Gona area, starting several fires and blowing up an ammunition dump, and leaving only two small native huts standing.

P-40 fighter planes followed up the heavy bombers' attack with effective dive-bombing and machine-gun attacks along the Japanese-held beachhead.

(The Australians' drive to the beach presumably would cut communications between the main Japanese centers of resistance, Gona and Buna, some 20 miles to the southeast, Sanananda toward which the Australians are driving, lies about halfway between the curving coast between Buna and Gona.)

Other Flying Fortresses meanwhile rode out stormheads to

FORMAL NOTICE RECEIVED FROM WORKS AGENCY

Total Cost of Addition Estimated at $166,800; City To Pay $19,000.

The federal government has granted funds to build a temporary addition to Marion City hospital, according to word received by Mayor Russell C. Snare.

He was notified by the federal works agency office in Chicago that presidential approval had been given the Marion City hospital addition and remodeling project at an estimated cost of $166,800.

Of this, $117,800 is to be provided by the federal government in the form of a grant and $19,000 by the city, largely in the form of equipment and land.

Tentative plans on which the approval was granted call for two one-story wings of frame construction extending westward from the north and south ends of the present hospital building. Because they are to be only one-story in height, each wing will be fairly long to provide the necessary space for 30 beds.

Under City Supervision

In view of the fact the funds were allocated as a grant, the city will supervise the expenditure, city officials said. It is expected the city hospital commission will enter into the necessary contracts to construct and equip the addition, subject to council's approval.

Mayor Snare today planned to confer soon with the commission regarding the first steps toward advertising for bids.

He expected more complete information from the federal works agency in a few days in the form of a letter. He received his official notice of the approval in a telegram Saturday night.

The Marion project is one of three Ohio war public works proposals approved by the President Saturday, The Associated Press reported. The others are a $216,000 project at Dayton for building and equipping a 100 bed annex to the Miami Valley hospital and a $6,000 project at Windham, O., for purchase of an pumper and fire hose as fire fighting equipment to serve a housing project.

Started 10 Months Ago

The federal action announced today comes almost exactly 10 months after the City hospital commission named by Mayor Snare in 1941 took its first important step—that of hiring an architect for the project.

It was on Jan. 28, 1942, that the commission acted, selecting the Lima firm of Thomas D. McLaughlin & Associates, to draw plans for the hospital addition and remodeling program that was contemplated in the $200,000 bond issue Marion voters had approved at the preceding November election.

Mr. McLaughlin's plans, which received approval of the commission, contemplated reconstruction of the present west wing of the hospital. This involved replacement of the present kitchen, laundry and dining room with a three-story structure that would embrace the principal centers such as the operating rooms, new kitchen and new obstetrical quarters.

Plans Hit Snag

—These plans struck an insurmountable obstacle when government regulations placed many of the materials to be used in the addition on the war critical list. This development came along last spring, and the hospital commission subsequently voted to ask the federal government for financial assistance in providing a temporary hospital addition.

It was pointed out at that time that the Victory Ordnance Plant would be added to the load carried by the hospital, that [illegible] other war industries were [illegible] and that [illegible] with patients for days [illegible] During some periods [illegible] were filled to capacity [illegible] rooms [illegible] were [illegible] on the floor [illegible]

Belief Based on Revision of Limitation Orders.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Nov. 30 — The fact the war production board is "considering revisions in some of its limitation orders" is the only justification civilian goods manufacturers have for anticipating an early resumption of their normal activities, reports the magazine Steel.

However, "signs of the better [illegible] piling up [illegible] shipments [illegible] tonnage [illegible] structural [illegible] and reinforcing [illegible] duction of certain [illegible] has been eliminated [illegible] as a result of lessons learned at the fighting front."

"Of all metals [illegible] most critical and new [illegible] to be denied to reduce consumption, are by-passing [illegible] galvanizing sheets."

The publication noted that WPB allowances to railroads for various [illegible] of 1942 for steel, steel [illegible] and locomotives, [illegible] considerably below quantities delayed by the carriers and are determined in accordance with needs of other consumers."

Steel also reported a "notable trend" in the rising demand for alloy steels for aircraft construction and further efforts to conserve the supply of alloying elements.

National steelworks operations were off ½ per cent last week to 99 per cent of early 1941 rates because of the need for open hearth repairs. The districts included Chicago, down ½ to 100½, New England 5 to 95, Wheeling 5½ to 81, Cleveland 2½ to 92½ and Detroit 3 to 91. The only advance was at Pittsburgh, up ½ point to 98½. Rates were unchanged at Youngstown 97, Buffalo 90½, Birmingham 95, Cincinnati 91, St. Louis 94 and Eastern Pennsylvania 56.

Poll Shows Sentiment of Public Toward 5 Possible G.O.P. Nominees in 1944

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 30 — The recent election has had an important effect upon the political fortunes of the five men whom political observers cite most frequently as leading candidates for the Republican nomination for the presidency in 1944.

These men are Wendell Willkie, Governor-Elect Thomas E. Dewey of New York, Governor Harold Stassen of Minnesota, Governor John W. Bricker of Ohio and Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

The present study is an attempt to report the present position with the voting public which the five men occupy.

As frequently pointed out in these reports, all polls are subject to an average error of approximately four per cent. In 115 municipal, state, and national elections on candidates and issues, the average error in Institute polls has been between three and four per cent. In two elections of November 3 in which final predictions were made, the error ranged from 4.5 per cent in the congressional elections to less than one half of one per cent in the New York state election.

Questions Asked

The following information was obtained in respect to each candidate: How many people are familiar with him? How many have an opinion about him as possible Republican presidential candidate for 1944? Of those with opinions, how many look upon the candidate favorably? How many look upon him unfavorably as presidential timber?

Since all persons, both those who voted Republican in the 1940 election and those who voted Democratic, were asked about all five candidates, it is possible to obtain an index of popularity based upon the rank and file voters.

While the five men were selected by the Institute because they were singled out most often as presidential possibilities by political observers, it is probable that between now and 1944 nomination time, one or more other figures may rise to compete with those now under consideration.

In future studies, the Institute will include all other possibilities, both from political and non-political fields.

Wendell Willkie

Of the five candidates, Willkie is the best known. Only two per cent of those interviewed across the nation are not familiar with him. An added 11 per cent, however, said they had no opinion about him. Forty-nine per cent looked upon him favorably, 38 per cent unfavorably. Among those who voted Democratic in 1940, his favorable vote is 45 per cent, his unfavorable 41. Among those who voted for him in the last election, 55 per cent look upon him with favor, 37 per cent unfavorably. He is best liked at this time in New England, Middle Atlantic, South, and the Far West. Only in the East Central area does his unfavorable vote exceed his favorable vote, 40 favorable, 45 unfavorable, but his favorable vote in the West Central section of 44 per cent is only one point his unfavorable vote.

WILLKIE

Thomas E. Dewey

Dewey has the highest favorable percentage vote of the five possible candidates considered — 52 per cent, compared to 21 per cent unfavorable. In spite of his recent election to the governorship of New York state in a campaign which attracted nationwide attention, he still is not known by 15 per cent, while eleven per cent questioned said they had no opinion. Dewey runs stronger than Willkie among those who voted Republican in the 1940 presidential election. His favorable vote is 66 per cent, his unfavorable 16 per cent. Dewey likewise is regarded with favor by 46 per cent of those who voted for Roosevelt in 1940, compared to a 28 unfavorable vote.

DEWEY

As might be expected, Dewey is much better among Republican voters, only 10 per cent of them declaring themselves unfamiliar with him, as against 16 per cent among the Democratic voters. Dewey runs a relatively heavy favorable vote in all sections of the country, although he suffers from not being well known in the South.

Gov. Harold Stassen

Governor Stassen's principal problem is one of becoming more well known to the rank and file voters throughout the country. While 15 per cent looked upon him favorably, as against 11 per cent unfavorably, 60 per cent of those questioned were not familiar with him, and 14 per cent would express no opinion. He is well liked among Republican voters who know him, getting a 24 to 12 favorable vote, but even among Republican voters, more than 50 per cent declared themselves unfamiliar with him. As might be expected, he is best known and looked upon with most favor in the West Central section of the country. But there is no section of the country in which his supporters do not have to do a lot of spade work in getting his name on the tongues of voters.

STASSEN

Gov. John W. Bricker

Governor Bricker's problem is much similar to that of Governor Stassen. Not enough people are yet familiar with him. Although he carried Ohio in the recent election by a large majority, 63 per cent of those questioned throughout the nation said they were unfamiliar with him. Twelve per cent looked upon him with favor, 11 per cent unfavorably; and 14 per cent said they had no opinion. Bricker runs as heavily popular with Republicans who know him as he runs unpopular with Democrats. Among Republicans his favorable vote is 19 per cent to 9 per cent. Again, however, as in Stassen's case, well over half of the Republicans said they are unfamiliar with him, while nearly two-thirds of the Democrats did not know him. Bricker runs strong in only one section, the East Central, where his own state is located. In all other sections he is not well enough known.

BRICKER

Senator Robert Taft

Senator Taft, who was a strong contender for the nomination at the 1940 Republican National Convention received a favorable vote in all those questioned of 26 per cent compared to a 29 per cent unfavorable vote. Thirty-one per cent declared themselves unfamiliar with him and 14 per cent said they had no opinion about him. It should be noted, however that he runs a sizeable majority of favorable votes among Republicans voters of 1940. His vote among this group is 57 favorable to 29 unfavorable. Among Democratic voters of 1940, he received a 20 per cent favorable vote and a 33 per cent unfavorable. He is regarded most favorably in New England, Middle Atlantic, and West Central States, and is weakest all around in the South.

TAFT

Here is what the rank and file of voters think of the following men as Republican presidential possibilities in 1944:

	Fav.	Unfav.	Unfam.	No. Op.
Willkie	49%	38%	2%	11%
Dewey	53	21	15	11
Stassen	15	11	60	14
Bricker	12	11	63	14
Taft	26	29	31	14

Report Given On Missionary Boxes

A report of the missionary boxes given by Mrs. John Hoch, chairman, at a meeting of the Missionary society of Emanuel Lutheran church Friday afternoon, showed that $204 had been contributed in a Thanksgiving offering by the members. Mrs. Fred Clagett conducted devotions which opened the meeting held in the church parlors. Mrs. W. A. Dorsey gave the Bible study and reports given by Mrs. Elmer Bentley and Mrs. Sidney Gast were on the "Outlook" and "Lutheran Standard" respectively.

It was voted to purchase a $100 bond for the society and also to contribute $25 to the pastors' pension fund. A Christmas activity will be a contribution of wash clothes and towels to the Wilston Home of Mercy near Toledo.

Hostesses were Mrs. L. F. Balsley, Mrs. Louise Sims, Miss Dorothy Vollmer, Mrs. W. W. Collins, and Mrs. A. M. Bufford. Lunch was served.

Mrs. Elizabeth Widman Stricken at Bucyrus

Three Physicians Added To Staff at Ordnance Plant

Three physicians have joined Dr. H. S. Wendorf, medical director for the U. S. Rubber Co. at the Scioto Ordnance Plant, primarily centering their attention now on physical examinations given all job applicants.

Dr. William E. Hoffer, 55, one of the three, has been named assistant medical director. He most recently practiced at Franklin, O., from 1919 to 1936, when he retired and made his home at Urbana. He returned to active practice when he accepted the position at the ordnance plant. He was reared in Bluffton, O., graduated from Eclectic Medical college at Cincinnati and was engaged in war industrial work at Cincinnati before beginning general practice. He and Mrs. Hoffer are parents of two sons.

Dr. Elmer W. Baker, 55, practiced for 25 years in New York City and for the last two years had been employed by the civilian conservation corps in Colorado and Wyoming. He was graduated from Princeton in 1908 and Columbia college of physicians and surgeons in 1912. He and Mrs. Baker are parents of two children.

Dr. Alfred E. Wood, 53, also came to Scioto Ordnance Plant from civilian conservation corps duty in camps in the Arizona district. He practiced in New York City for eight years and before that was ship's physician in the merchant marine for 20 years. He is a graduate of Fordham school of medicine. His home is in Jersey City, N. J.

BUCYRUS, Nov. 30—Wed in Chicago Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Laviolette were forced to delay their honeymoon trip in Bucyrus Saturday while repairs were being made to their automobile which was damaged in an accident on Route 30-N, six miles east of Bucyrus.

The couple received slight injuries when their car collided with an automobile driven by Richard Sebring of Bucyrus at Routes 30 and 146. Sebring was uninjured.

U. S. To Borrow Nine Billions in December

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30—With the theme song changed from defense to victory, Uncle Sam opens fire on the home front today with the biggest war financing campaign in world history.

To meet the steadily increasing costs of war, the treasury will borrow $9,000,000 during the month—getting a large portion of it from issuance of three new-type treasury securities which Secretary Morgenthau termed "adapted for every type of investor."

CORN ACREAGE UP

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30—Acreage allotments for the commercial corn planting area was advanced 5 per cent to 43,423,000 for 1943, in an effort to obtain adequate livestock feed for 1944, the agricultural department announced. Ohio's 1942 allotment of 2,638,739 was increased to 2,769,950. The national corn planting goal was set at 95,000,000 acres for both the commercial and non-commercial areas.

Approximately one-half of the retail establishments in the United States are so small that they have no hired employes.

Air Conditioned for the Winter Months

Air conditioning is more important during the months of closed doors than during the brief periods of hot summer weather, even though it may be much more noticeable in summer.

In the Hughes Funeral Home the air is completely changed every few minutes, coming back to the assembly rooms water-washed and purified. This is protection from the germs of colds, influenza, etc., for all who attend a funeral here.

It costs no more to hold a funeral in our air conditioned Funeral Home — and the organ also is available. We welcome inquiries and investigation.

SMALL PAPERS JOIN IN DEFENSE OF AP

Group Formed To Help Fight Monopoly Suit.

By The Associated Press

DECATUR, Ill., Nov. 30 — Disclaiming interest in the "controversy between two powerful Chicago morning newspapers," representatives of 1,000 smaller newspapers today joined the defense against the government's suit which charged the Associated Press with monopoly.

Edward E. Lindsay, editor of the Decatur Herald and Review, announced the formation of a committee of Associated Press members from smaller cities and, as chairman, issued a statement, declaring:

"We believe there are many who do not agree with certain policies of the Chicago Tribune. Nevertheless, all of us are alarmed over the possibility that the government's effort to obtain a forced Associated Press membership for the Tribune's morning competitor, the Chicago Sun, may result in the destruction of the Associated Press."

In its suit, now pending in federal court, the government claimed that the action of the Associated Press membership in declining to grant a membership to the Chicago Sun had shown discriminatory monopolistic operations. The Tribune, which opposed membership for the Sun, is owned by Col. Robert R. McCormick. The Sun is owned by Marshall Field. Colonel McCormick filed a separate answer to the suit.

Employment of Robert T. Neill of San Angelo, Texas, as attorney for the small papers "to emphasize the threat to small newspapers of this suit and to collaborate with counsel for AP in the defense," was announced by Lindsay who, in the interest of the whole committee, invited AP members "who feel as we do" to join the movement.

GAS RATIONING STARTS DEC. 1

Motorists Fill Tanks To Beat Deadline at Midnight Tonight.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 30—Ohio motorists who haven't already done so filled their tanks today in advance of the midnight gasoline rationing deadline, as other curtailments appeared.

Office of price administration officials reported, after "runs" on service stations Saturday, that no freeze of gasoline in advance of rationing would be made but said rigid control would be carried out to enforce the program designed to conserve tires.

Coffee rationing became effective yesterday, after sales had been frozen a week.

Shortages of liquor supplies were reported in numerous state stores.

Jacob B. Taylor, state liquor director, asserted supplies would be reasonably adequate if customers didn't hoard.

Two Columbus stores Saturday limited sales to a bottle daily to a customer and a case a day to permit holders, while Youngstown retail customers were restricted to three bottle daily.

Taylor blamed depletion of stocks here to a buying wave induced by "premature publicity."

The state defense council, meanwhile, opened today a "share the meat" program aimed at voluntary limitation of civilian consumption to 2½ pounds weekly to assure adequate supplies for the nation's armed forces and foreign shipments.

Ralph H. Stone, state defense council director, said housewives would be asked in a six-day drive to limit purchases of beef, pork and mutton and to substitute liver, kidney, sweetbreads, brains, tongue, fish, poultry and eggs.

BIDS ARE RECEIVED ON GALION RESERVOIR

City Prepares To Build Water Supply Reservoir.

Special to The Star

GALION, Nov. 30—In preparation for the construction of the Hurley farm dam southwest of the city bids have been received by the city of Galion from three local firms. The bids received were for supplying material, equipment rental and embankment units at the surface water supply project which will be located on the County Line road east of the city.

The firms submitting bids were Hocestra Coal and Supply Co.: $9 a yard for 300 cubic yards of ready mixed concrete, $2 a ton for 300 tons of concrete sand, $2 a ton for 400 tons of No. 3 and No. 31 crushed limestone or slag; $2.10 per barrel for 600 barrels of cement.

The Galion Equity Exchange Co bid $2.35 a barrel for 600 barrels of cement.

Art Schreck Inc., bid $80 for the loading and stripping of 400 cubic yards of clay; $2,800 for the loading of 14,000 cubic yards of embankment; and $1,920 for 300 hours of power shovel operation.

City officials said that no bids had been received as yet for the hauling and placing of 14,000 cubic yard of embankment; 600 hours rental of 1½ ton truck and operator; 4,000 board feet of matched sheeting, No. 2 or better and for 2,000 board feet of 2x4 inch or 2x6 inch odd length lumber.

CLEVELANDERS TO LEAD DEMOCRATS IN ASSEMBLY

Minority Organizes for Coming Session of Legislature.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 30 — Cleveland legislators will lead the Democratic minority in the 95th general assembly which convenes Jan. 4.

Senators meeting in Cleveland reelected William M. Boyd minority floor leaders, and house members in caucus at New Philadelphia selected John J. Carney, 32-year-old trucking contractor, over John J. Bulkley of Youngstown.

Carney beginning his third term in the house, had the backing of 11 Cuyahoga county representatives among the 23 Democratic members attending the caucaus.

Boyd, one of five Democratic senators in the next legislature, has served three terms in the upper chamber.

Carney announced two committees: platform — Buckley, chairman; John J. Day, Shaker Heights; Edwin F. Sawicki, Cleveland; Guy S. McKelvey, Monroe county, and Roy E. Harmony, Shelby; properties—John T. Derighter, East Cleveland, chairman; Lee Fair, Holmes county, and Patrick J. Dunn, Tuscarawas county.

THREE ACCIDENTS IN MARION DISTRICT

Filling Station, Shrubbery and Calf Figure in Mishaps.

A filling station, a six-month old heifer calf, a telephone pole and shrubbery were involved in three week-end accidents investigated by the state highway patrol.

No one was hurt and property damage involved was slight, the patrol reported.

The filling station figured in an accident at 11:15 a. m. yesterday on Route 61, near the junction of Routes 30-S and 61, south of Galion.

Earl Timson, 57, of rear Galion, going south on Route 61, slowed down to turn into the filling station. A tractor and trailer owned by H. O. Kline of Columbus and driven by Milford S. Wolfe, 20, of Columbus was following and the driver applied the brakes. The outfit started to "jackknife". Wolfe tried to go around Timson on the right side to avoid a collision. The truck hit the fenders of the Timson car, hit a car owned by Eileen Freese of near Galion, which was parked in the filling station lot, and ran into the building.

The calf, loose from a field, ran onto Route 98, just south of the Junction of Route 30-S and 98, east of Marion, and into the path of a car driven by Edgar M. Fussell of Edison. The accident occurred at 11:45 last night. The calf, owned by W. C. Baldinger of near Caledonia, apparently was not hurt badly and the front end of the car was damaged only slightly.

At 3:05 this morning, 12 miles south of Marion on Route 4, a car driven by James H. Baker, 21, of 550 Henry street, went off the road, struck a telephone pole, tore down shrubbery and came to a stop on the Cox farm. The front fenders of the car were damaged. Baker told the patrol he went to sleep.

WAITRESS KILLED

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Nov. 0 — Mrs. Adeline Mosley, 48, a waitress, shot fatally by one of three men who attempted to hold up the Chestnut cafe here. The trio escaped.

Wishful Thinking Won't Destroy Tokyo

It'll take men, material—and YOUR money!

Before we can knock the Japanese to their knees, you and everyone of us are going to have to put at least 10% of our pay into War Bonds. Not somebody else, but you and me—NOW!

Because all-out war takes money. You can't buy Victory at the dime store. If you think so, take a look at what a 2,000-plane raid* takes in men, money, and materials:

- Value of planes participating, $600 million
- Cost of fuel consumed, $11 million
- Cost of bombs dropped, $12 million
- Total men involved on ground, 240,000
- Total men involved in air, 12,000
- Probable losses in airmen killed or captured, 400
- Probable losses in planes, 79

Total cost—Everybody all-out for Victory and everybody putting at least 10% of pay every pay day into War Bonds!

Destroying the military heart of Japan is definitely worth it. Are you saving your 10%?

*Based on British raids on Cologne and Essen as given in OWI news report.

DO YOU KNOW?

When you buy WAR BONDS, you're saving, not giving! Series E WAR BONDS are worth 75% percent more in 10 years! You get back $4 for every $3 you invest!

These BONDS, when held to maturity (10 years), yield 2.9 percent per year on your investment, compounded semiannually!

Joining a Pay Roll Savings Plan makes saving easy!

Joining your bank's Victory Club (it works like any Thrift or Christmas Club) is a convenient way to save for War Bonds for those who aren't members of a Pay Roll Savings Plan.

You can have enough money to do a lot of things you'd like to do, and to buy the many things you'll need after the war is over, if you save enough in War Bonds every pay day NOW!

You can start buying WAR BONDS by buying War Stamps for as little as 10 cents.

Proposal To Save Manpower

UNITED STATES civil service commission has warned that it sees no relief for the swamped-down federal bureaucracy. With close to three million jobholders, falling over one another already, there still is a shortage of help.

The question is, of course, why should the shortage be taken seriously when it could be overcome by the simple expedient of throwing out a lot of the paper work whose only effect on the war is to slow it up and hasten the nervous breakdowns of hundreds of thousands of businessmen?

Every 10 jobholders turned back to production would relieve at least one person whose time now is taken up answering their queries, filling out their questionnaires and trying to overcome their drag on production machinery. There would be a net gain all around.

As for the paper work, it could be allowed to pile up until more placid times when it would be fun for a businessman to take a run into Washington to see if he could find his way through the bureaucratic maze. What with the telephone calls, the trips and the wear and tear on all kinds of office machinery, the paper work that could be postponed till there was nothing better to do could produce a war boom of its own.

Ain't It the Truth?

MRS. FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT, the peripatetic first lady, sheds words of wisdom as she goes.

Her words are collectors' items, you might say—at least they are always being picked up and displayed. One special batch of them is salted down each day and may be found by posterity in centuries to come in the files of newspapers publishing "My Day."

Speaking at a rally opening "Women At War week," Mrs. Roosevelt said: "Some people in this country will continue to spend money on themselves no matter what you do." Then in "My Day," she wrote: "I wonder if every woman who returns from a long trip feels as I do, that until she has had her hair and nails done she isn't completely normal. I spent an hour and a half getting myself fixed up Wednesday afternoon."

Even if the rest of us haven't been on any long trips lately, we just naturally enjoy getting ourselves fixed up too. It's just one of those disgraceful weaknesses that pop up in the best of us sometimes.

They Threw Out the Baby

ENDOWED colleges and charities, including the Red Cross, are latest to realize that the philosophy behind the government order limiting earnings of working citizens, except lawyers and a few others, to $25,000, calls for a showdown. The palace revolutionists apparently have gone too far this time and tipped their hand.

Either the United States is going to have private capitalism, or it isn't. The New Dealers who crowded through the pet proposal of Mrs. Roosevelt and the CIO want something else. What it is they don't say. But when politicians gain the right to tell a man what he can earn, the "land of opportunity" has been destroyed by termites. Private capitalism, like the traditional baby, is being thrown out with the bath.

Because few persons are worried about earnings of $25,000, the thing has been slipped over without opposition. But once the politicians have established the principle, they can name any figure they choose. Perhaps tomorrow they might decide that no one could earn more than $1,000.

If this country is going to have a social revolution it should be called by its right name—not trotted out in the disguise of economic stabilization. Let the government tax income as much as it will, but it has no right to limit what a man may earn.

That Tailored Feeling

ALL THIS groping for new ways to express the old ideas of regimentation is having some curious effects.

First, there was the reckless employment of the manufactured word over-all, to describe any control that was going to be inclusive, also as a lazy expression to mean that everything was included, even though not designated.

Over-all has been taken into the language and is as useful to the stampeding bureaucracy now as a couple more sets of prying fingers on each arm. There is another addition to the language now.

It is the fine old word tailor, used to denote what happens when supply and demand are adjusted to each other by rationing. The word is going to become common in connection with gasoline rationing. This is a typical sentence, borrowed from an article on fuel oil rationing:

"Though the railroads have done a fine job, shipments by tank car just can't be made to equal the demand, even as tailored by rationing."

Originally, the meaning of tailor was to cut. The connotation of cutting and sewing cloth to fit the human form came later. Thus, it may come to be said that "he tailored his appetite," or "I tailored myself with a razor." This is an age of ingenuity with words. Anything is possible.

News Behind the News

Washington Wonders How Lehman Will Operate His New Job of Feeding World.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The other government officials are looking question marks at Governor Lehman and his new Roosevelt job of food purveyor to the world-at-large.

At the time he was chosen, this government froze butter (saying our smaller production now required shops to mail with other cargo at places reserved for butter.)

It rationed coffee (after six weeks warning during which hoarders were permitted to stock up, although they really must tell what they have hidden in the basement—they really must.)

It announced milk production around Washington was short 40,000 gallons a day.

Canned goods were hard to get, as were meat.

In fact, officialdom said our food supplies were so short, an over-all ration book was in prospect.

We are so strained that OPA is requiring 360,000 hotels, restaurant, and boarding houses to mark down every item served in the month of December—although it furnishes no bookkeepers to do that vast labor and will no doubt be astounded at the quick-guess results it is going to get.

All this has raised the question on where Lehman is going to get food for anyone, beyond our present obligations. It has also caused the agriculture department and OPA rationing officials to wonder how Lehman would fit in with their current domestic food activities.

Who'll Come First?

Further, the President was pondering the choice of a government food administrator for the United States (an official of General Food and another of General Mills are reported to have been turned down for the job and ex-Congressman Marvin Jones is supposed to be slated for it.)

But how will Lehman, and the new obligations he is assuming abroad, fit into this setup—under it or above it? Will he get first call or will our people get it?

The answer seemed to be that Mr. Roosevelt has given Lehman a trapeze, not a job. The New York governor will swing around the world collecting immediate and post-war requests, but when he alights back here, his real troubles will start when he tries to fill his first order.

Propaganda Changed

The Japs have significantly switched their propaganda. Not until last week did the Tokyo radio, for the first time in this war, start telling the truth about Jap losses. Up to then, they hardly admitted anything more than the damage to a rowboat or two.

There can be but one explanation of this. They are preparing their people for bad news as the inevitably unfavorable turn of the war. They, too, must now know they cannot win.

Filibusters

This talk of amending the senate rule, to prevent future filibusters, will never be transformed into action, you may be sure. Behind the matter is the fear of senators that Mr. Roosevelt might try to jam through a peace treaty unacceptable to a strong minority. They want the rules left open for filibusters.

Indeed, there are some who say the White House's Senator Pepper brought up the anti-poll tax bill just to test the cloture and filibuster rules in anticipation of a peace fight.

Filibustering is a practice seldom defended, because it is a device by which a minority defeats the majority. But the senate rules allowing such obstructive tactics have never been changed in all these years of our history, for a practical reason.

A great majority of the senate always realize that each senator individually may one day have to use these tactics to protect his section of the country against a majority (for instance, New England would filibuster a bill to give the south an economic advantage over it.)

Don't forget this also: A difference between a democracy and a dictatorship is that a dictatorship abolishes minorities by persecution and otherwise, while a democracy fosters their rights.

Government's Fault

The government's own policies are responsible for many of these food shortages. Take milk for example. There is no other reason than government policy why milk production of this nation in war time should be falling off.

No national ceiling was put on milk prices, but different ceilings were established for high-price and low-price areas. For instance, Portsmouth, N. H., was a busy shipbuilding center, has been a low-priced area, and larger cities high-priced zones.

Obviously, as scarcity develops, milk is certain to go to the high-priced areas with consequent shortages in low-priced zones.

This situation, plus the shortage of help and high beef prices fixed by OPA (causing the selling of many cows for meat) illustrates a government-made difficulty which is more or less applicable to other commodities.

Somehow or another, government officials never seem to realize that a shortage of anything means they have fallen down on their job. They like to blame hoarders and acts of the gods of war.

Boss British Sky Soldier

Ranked as One of Most Brilliant Allied Leaders.

By RUSSELL LANDSTROM
Associated Press Features

HEADQUARTERS BRITISH AIRBORNE TROOPS SOMEWHERE IN BRITAIN — A handsome, youthful general with a remarkable military record is now forging one of the allies' instruments of victory. He is Major General Frederick Arthur Montague Browning, DSO, 45, a veteran of the last World war and commander of the British airborne forces.

He generally is ranked among the most brilliant of the allied leaders. Husband of Daphne du Maurier, the novelist, he is tall, slender, mustached, considered the best-dressed officer in the Army.

Believes In His Job

General Browning believes passionately in the mission of airborne troops.

"In all probability," he said, "the world will be policed after the war by means of airborne troops.

"I do not think that international order will be kept by bombings nor by threats of bombing, but by determined warnings—or actual landings if necessary—that airborne troops would be sent into troubled regions to keep the peace."

He predicts that after this war there may be no more armies as the world now knows them, that land armies as such are moving toward obsolescence.

Thus the soldier of tomorrow would be a kind of super-marine, employed either in the air or on the sea.

"The airborne forces," Browning says, "doubtless will carry more and more tanks, and artillery as well."

Sandhurst Graduate

General Browning came out of Eton and Sandhurst, the British counterpart of West Point, to join the Grenadier Guards in the first year of the last war. He was in action on the western front before he was 19 years old, and by the time he was 21 he had won the DSO and the Croix de Guerre.

When this war broke out he was commandant of the Small Arms school.

Advanced to a major-generalship in November, 1941, he soon was given command of the nation's airborne forces.

Adept in this highly specialized training and never hesitant about getting into battle-dress himself, the general represents the kind of leadership which appeals imaginatively to keen and daring men. He has been an exceptional athlete; that appeals to his soldiers.

MAJ. GEN. FREDERICK BROWNING

Nearly 20 years ago he won the English high hurdles title of the A.A.A. In the same period he distinguished himself in winter sports; he was a member of a bobsled crew at the Olympic games, and for four years was on another major British sled team. He has excelled also as a yachtsman.

Ads Get Results

By The Associated Press

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—It pays to advertise.

That's the conclusion Bush Binley, Little Rock insurance salesman, has reached after applying modern sales methods to the long-conservative Arkansas Land Office.

Shortly after Binley took over as land commissioner, approximately 40,000 acres of timber lands that had been set aside for state forests were released for public sale. As an experiment, he advertised in county newspapers.

The flood of responses amazed him. Many persons, it developed, hadn't even known the state had lands for sale.

Then he inserted ads in about a dozen eastern Arkansas newspapers when appraisals were completed on tax-forfeited lands in that area. The publicity doubled the size of the office mailbag and boosted sales and redemptions by a sizeable figure.

Daily Bible Thought

Will you be satisfied with that kind of a settlement. How can we ask God to be charitable to our shortcomings if we indulge in tirades about imaginary or real slights and injuries to ourselves? "Forgive our debts as we forgive our debtors."—Matt. 6:12.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

It was Thursday, Nov. 30, 1922.

The Northern Ohio Scholastic Football league championship race came to an end when Ashland defeated Mansfield 19 to 0. As a result Ashland, Mansfield and Bucyrus were tied for the pennant, Galion was in second place, Harding High of Marion in third place and Delaware, fourth.

Richwood High school football team completed the most successful season in the history of the school when it defeated Milford Center High school 67 to 0 in a Thanksgiving morning game at Richwood.

Mrs. Martha Bowman, 69, died at her home on Boone avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Marshman of West Columbia street celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at a family gathering in their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred M. Hochstetler entertained at a family dinner in their home on South Vine street.

Marion's professional basketball team, playing under auspices of the Marion Athletic association, opened the season at the armory by defeating a strong Lima team 21 to 19. Marion players were Marsh, Pfeifer, Schreck, Daugherty and Seigle.

The Marion Oorang Indians football team, headed by Jim Thorpe, defeated the strong Columbus Panhandles in a holiday game at Columbus, 18 to 6. Thorpe's 40-yard pass to Guyon in the early minutes of the game paved the way for the first touchdown.

No Secret About This Gun

By Jack Stinnett
Washington Correspondent.

BRITISH military experts in this country are enthusiastic about a new weapon they are turning out by the hundreds of thousands.

It's not a "secret weapon," but its potentialities are considered almost as great as if it were.

It's the Sten gun, designed by a British lieutenant colonel and a draughtsman.

It's a sub-machine gun that fires at the rate of 500 rounds a minute and costs only a bit more than $8.

If you don't think the British are convinced they have something there, give a thought to the fact that they already have manufactured more than a million and are still turning them out at top speed.

The ministry of supply calls it "the most revolutionary gun ever produced in such a short time."

First impressions, say the British experts, are that it looks like an ugly piece of drain pipe discarded by the plumber. But they claim, men who never held a gun before have been able to rip a target to shreds with one at 30 yards and make effective hits at much greater distances.

It fires from a clip, carrying 32 rounds of 9 mm. round-nose, rimless ammunition; cools while the clip being changed (about the same length of time it would take to reload an army automatic); weighs about six and a half pounds and is only 30 inches long.

It is cheaper than the tommy-gun (which costs around $200); and is a possible replacement for that and the automatic pistol.

The Sten gun is already being issued to the British home guard. Its simplicity (it has only 59 parts—less than half the number of the tommy gun) makes it a perfect weapon for civilian or home guard use in close fighting.

There is one even more important possibility for the Sten gun than equipping the home guard and tank crews. Dozens of them can be dropped in parachutes, with ammunition attached.

With the United Nations knocking on the doors of occupied Europe with its millions of potential but unarmed allies, the Sten gun may some day prove to be worth its weight in gold.

Keyed to War

BLUEFIELD, W. Va. — The milkman is going to add some noise to his morning rounds but the folks won't mind because it's all in the interest of the scrap drive.

Bluefield's salvage committee suggested that persons who had old keys to donate should place them in their empty milk bottles to be picked up by the dairymen.

All the milk companies have agreed to the plan.

And ever since Tom went away to war Bejo has carried his slippers each evening to the door and awaited his homecoming. After she decides he isn't going to arrive she takes one of the slippers, lies in front of the fireplace and curls her paw around it as she settles down for the night.

Hair Pieces

This Is a Ticklish Topic but There Are Some Things About Bald Men You Should Be Told.

By DAMON RUNYON

IN MY numerous discourses on the various artful aids to masculine pulchritude which comfort, I have touched very little on the subject of the rug, these being those synthetic hirsute adherences without which many men feel positively hard-capped.

A divot (the term being drawn from golf) is a smallish, cunningly contrived patch of hair which augments that sparseness of growth forward of the cowlick with which some of our best citizens are afflicted. The sparseness may be produced by any one of a great many causes. I know a divot man who rubbed off a good deal of hair on the front of his head getting in and out of patrol wagons.

A rug is a completely artificial carpeting for a pimple or head that has been utterly denuded of its original hair. It is supposed to conceal baldness and to give the popular impression that the wearer has locks like Samson before Delilah got in her nasty work, though I never saw but one rug of such perfect workmanship as to delude the public.

THIS was worn by a friend of mine who was courting a beautiful dame. You would have sworn it was his real hair, but one night in the parlor when her father entered unexpectedly and she had to disentangle herself from her friend's octupus-like clutches, she put her hands on his head for support as she arose. His rug slipped under her mitt and she fell to the floor breaking her nigh leg.

Her father gave my friend a severe beating, being infuriated, not because of the broken leg, but because he thought the exposure of my friend's naked noggin in the presence of nice people slightly scandalous. However, I know many rug-men not as ashamed of my friend. They encase their sconce-pieces in this manner just to keep their beans warm.

Mr. Julius Tannen, the eminent thespian of stage and screen, takes up the cudgels for rug-men in an elaborate argument to me, confessing unblushingly that he wears wigs—terms a hair-piece for no other purpose than to improve his looks—"not a toupee, a hair-piece," which confuses me no little as I am not sure whether a hair-piece is a wig or a rug.

"NO ONE questions the wearing of eye-glasses," argues Mr. Tannen. "And upper and lower plate are as casual as allusions to the weather. If it is commendable to improve the upper side of one's dome by the cultivation of gray matter, why isn't it one's duty (at 63) to improve its upper elevation with hair of the same color?"

He lugs in George Washington, Thomas Jefferson and John Adams, who were wigged, to prove his case. He says he thinks the public would commend "us" in our efforts to look more attractive to them. I do not know that Mr. Tannen gets that "us" stuff when my own wool is so luxuriant that I can't do a thing with it. And see here, Tannen, my man, when you speak of wearing that hair-piece to improve your looks, kindly file a bill of particulars as to what looks you mean.

I DO not want to bore my readers with stories of my acquaintances, but I have a friend who was all the things Mr. Tannen mentions, a rug-man, and a plate-man and a pad-and-stilt-man, meaning he wore those inner soles in his shoes to make him look taller. He wore specs, too! At 62 he would have been a match with the ladies, but for one thing.

He could not coordinate his artifices so that he would all work at the same time. One morning he was out with a lady when a high wind blew his rug off and immediately he caught a cold in his exposed head which caused him to sneeze. The sneeze dislodged both his plate and his specs. All he had left was his increased height, but even then he was not tall enough to peer over the barrier of icy reserve which the lady suddenly raised between them.

"The City Rube"

(From The Dayton Daily News)

One of the things a sentimental America is now going to learn at considerable speed is the fact that not every city dude is coming to farm. There is a reversal of old ideas which, right at the beginning of the farm manpower crisis, it is well to face.

The cities have always made sport of the countryman come to town. He was usually awkward—a rube. He wasn't up to the city speed and wit. He couldn't do the city's work. The city feller, on the other hand, went into the country with a superior air.

Nothing could be farther from the truth than the truth is now.

Go into the city factory, draw out the unemployment office, and you get something like this: For jobs on our machines, give me a city boy. He'll be quick to learn and quick to operate. He is used to responsibility and isn't afraid to work.

The factories, acting with one accord and opinion, have been luring the country boy into the regiment into the towns. This plus the draft, makes the farmer's problem. It is a problem that now has many a dairy shutting down. It is leaving many a farm deserted every year. It is the most critical unsolved problem of the war, for it involves the people's and the army's most insistent need, food.

The farmer boy gets set quickly enough when he goes to the city factory. He is used to machinery, used to thinking for himself, used to doing whatever must be done. Welcome at the factory door? With open arms. How about the city youngling out for a farming job?

The ancient idea was that any fool can farm. Whoever couldn't make a go of clerking in a store or teaching school or practicing law could farm. Maybe, in the old days when farming were rules there was something to that idea. Indeed, when one considers how the land is mined—not farmed, in older times, it is hard to believe it true. What needs to be remembered now is the change in farming which science, education and the machine age have brought. The modern farmer, if he is to succeed, needs be a repository of all the sciences and the arts. He must be chemist, physicist, biologist, mechanic and master of finance. The farmer boy can master a fairly skilled job in the factory in a month or two. For a city boy to master the art and science of farming takes years.

This is why the farmers, when city folk talk of sending them picnic parties to solve the labor problem throw up their hands and protest. Would we sweep up a miscellaneous crowd from the streets to man a factory's drill presses, lathes and dies? That's how it sounds to the farmer when we offer to send him a dairy boy who never saw a cow. From all sides comes the cry from the farms the protesting cry: "Don't send us laborers who don't know a plow from a mowing machine; above all, don't send us workers who faint if oppressed with more than a seven-hour day, a 35-hour week." The farmer's day is just starting when his first seven hours are the hardest, are done.

It isn't as simple as it looks, in this day of skilled farming, to solve the labor problem on the farms. And it has to be solved, and soon.

"MELODY LOUNGE" ENTRANCE TO BOSTON NIGHT CLUB WHERE OVER 470 DIED IN FIRE

Boston police and firemen watch over the rear entrance to the "Melody Lounge" section of the Cocoanut Grove night club where more than 470 persons perished in a flash fire. Debris from broken chairs, tables and personal effects of some of the guests in the club when fire broke out litters the sidewalk and gutter. (Associated Press Photo.)

Fear-stricken relatives and friends of those caught in the flaming inferno which swept Boston's Cocoanut Grove night club are shown above as they thronged to the information desk of a Boston hotel seeking word of their loved ones. (International News Phonephoto.)

Room Recently Opened

The Melody Lounge, where the fire started, was a new addition opened within the last two weeks.

American Red Cross headquarters at Washington sent 100 units of blood plasma by airliner and a similar amount was contributed by the Boston chapter.

The Red Cross at New York ordered 10 of its staff to the fire scene and Medical Director Albert McCowan left Washington for Boston.

By daybreak all the bodies had been taken from the one and one-half story stucco building that squatted among taller structures on a narrow Back Bay street.

Soon after dawn youths were scuttling around the debris and the sidewalk, picking up a woman's handbag now and then, and additional police were brought to the scene.

The narrow sidewalks of Piedmont street, which the club faced, were cluttered with cups, saucers, hundreds of small wooden cocktail forks, washed out by the fire hose lines—and women's clothing and slippers.

In one spot, where chairs stood in a cluster, there were some musical instruments and a few sheets of music.

Nearby streets and parking lots were crowded with parked and locked automobiles, many of which will never be called for by their owners.

There were many post-game football parties in the club.

The smoke and flames seemed to mushroom through the club's main room and basement "Melody Lounge" in one, big puff.

First Alarm at 10:15

The fire alarm was sounded shortly after 10:15 p. m. Saturday.

Some of those who escaped made their way to the roof of the low building and leaped to the roofs of parked automobiles, then to the street. The clothing of some was burning as they fled.

Billy Payne, the night club's tenor, saved 10 patrons by leading them into a huge basement ice box.

"I was getting ready to start the show," Payne said. "Suddenly I heard screams. I thought there was a fight. Then I saw a flame racing along the wall. The screams got louder. Everyone started rushing.

"If only more had followed me they would be alive."

Bodies were found piled up at a revolving door. One body was found in a telephone booth in the ground floor lobby.

Ambulances, beach wagons, private cars, even express trucks with police riding the running boards, were used to carry the dead and injured to hospitals and morgues.

Every medical examiner in the state was called to duty. Soldiers, sailors, coast guardsmen, marines helped carry out the victims while firemen fought foot by foot through the flames.

Automobiles were shifted from their parking places to make room for blanket-covered forms.

The Boston committee on public safety organized under real disaster conditions for the first time.

Among their many services was an identification bureau which assembled lists of the identified dead.

Priests rushed to the scene to administer last rites.

William Ladd of Boston told of the sudden flash of flame and rolling cloud of smoke and added:

"Instantly there was panic. Men and women began to scream. Everybody wanted to get out first.

Fight Toward Door

"Men and women began tearing clothes from the bodies of each other.

"They all got to a small door on Piedmont street and one of the women went down. Then others fell on top of her and bodies just seemed to keep piling up.

"While these people were all trapped and tangled with one another the flames reached the front door. It was impossible then for anyone to get out."

Wilbur Sheffield of Newton, General Electric Co. engineer, who probably was the last person to enter the club—was met by a surging crowd of men and women.

Women's dresses were in flames, he said, and behind the pushing, scrambling crowd was a sea of fire that grew in depth.

He managed to get to the front of the club room, he said, only to find a door jammed with others who finally broke through.

Benjamin M. Ellis had been shopping at a nearby store and was watching firemen extinguish flames in a nearby automobile when the fire started, related:

"Someone said 'There's a fire in Cocoanut Grove.'

"The firemen rushed over there. When I got there, 10 or 15 people were struggling in the doorway. They were men and women. Some were sailors. Their faces were quickly blackened. The smoke was pouring out around them and over their heads.

Flames Break Through

"In a matter of seconds a belch of flame came right out. The clothing of the people in the doorway was burning on them. Windows were kicked out and people were hanging out screaming."

Two other pedestrians told of seeing burned people on the club roof, many of them screaming.

"They began jumping from the roof; they didn't seem to care where they landed; they just jumped; jumped anywhere" — so spoke George Carney and Jack Martin of Boston.

"Then suddenly we saw a girl run out of Piedmont street; her clothes and even her hair were afire."

An elderly widow's three sons were identified as victims and a fourth son was among the unreported.

The sons of Mrs. Mary A. Fitzgerald, 71, of Wilmington, went to the night club with four women friends after the Boston College-Holy Cross football game to celebrate the furlough of one of the brothers.

The known dead were Henry, 28, an Army air corps private on furlough from Sebring, Fla.; Wilfred, 31, and James vL, 37. John Fitzgerald was reported missing, as were the women companions of the four.

LIMIT PLACED ON LIQUOR STORE SALES

State Retail Stores To Go Under Restrictions.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 30—Liquor Director Jacob B. Taylor announced today that sales of liquor in state retail stores would be restricted at once to one quart a day for each adult customer, effective at once.

The action followed a wave of buying that stripped many store shelves of entire stocks late last week and caused some stores to limit purchases.

Taylor said that wholesale sales would be restricted to an amount equal to the gallonage purchased by each permit holder in the comparable week a year ago, except that where the supply of a brand is limited, sales would be on a proportionately smaller basis.

Taylor said that a "number of causes and circumstances" led to the restriction. Chiefly, he said, the distilling industry now is engaged completely in production of alcohol for war and liquor for public consumption must come out of inventories existing prior to Oct. 8.

"In order, therefore, to insure a reasonable supply for the people of the United States during the war period * * * sales at the present time and for the duration are being made by the distillers on a restricted basis," Taylor said. "Some of the smaller companies have suspended business entirely and a number of brands will disappear from the market. This means that in Ohio the total amount of gallonage which the department will be able to purchase in 1943 and the ensuing years will be somewhat less than that which was purchased in 1942."

Sales for 1942 were estimated to reach $90,000,000, compared with $70,000,000 a year ago and $58,000,000 in 1940.

FORMER CRAWFORD CO. MAN'S ANIMALS BURNED

Lions, Tigers Trained at Mt. Zion Killed at Mansfield.

BUCYRUS, O., Nov. 30—Jules Jacot was owner of three lions, two tigers and three bears destroyed yesterday in a fire at the Richland county fairgrounds. He lived at Mt. Zion, south west of here, until this fall.

Several months ago Jacot moved his animals from Mt. Zion community to winter quarters under the grandstand at the fairgrounds at Mansfield.

One of the last public appearances of the animal act was made last summer when Jacot exhibited the act at the Bucyrus community picnic. He wanted to keep the animals at the Bucyrus park during the winter but no accommodations were available.

Jacot moved to Mt. Zion community about three years ago. Little was learned of his former activities and his presence in the community first became known when he began training his animals.

After the fire yesterday Jacot said the destroyed animals were suffocated before he could pull the cages from the grandstand quarters. Cause of the fire was not determined.

Four-Inch Snowfall Recorded in Marion

Four inches of snow, heaviest fall of the season, blanketed Marion early Sunday morning and turned to slush as the day wore on.

A drop from 36 yesterday to 25 last night froze the snow that had not melted away.

At noon today the temperature was 30. A year ago today the maximum temperature was 65 and the minimum was 43.

registration beyond Tuesday.

Many of the volunteers who worked all last week and who have consented to work today and Tuesday are sacrificing home and business duties to perform the service, Edgar W. Barnhart, chairman of the rationing board said.

Up to Public

"It is up to the public to get to the auditorium and make application. If the public delays, applications will have to be taken care of by the permanent force at the rationing office. It will mean a delay for the public, because the permanent force is small," he said.

Persons who have mailed or sent in applications which are passed by the board of review will receive notification cards. When the applicant goes to the auditorium to receive a supplemental book he must have his vehicle registration card with him. The serial number of his ration book is written on the registration card.

Said to be four times as rapid as any process heretofore used, a new quick freeze method for retaining freshness and flavors in foods has been developed at the University of Texas.

CHARLES W. TRAXLER OF MARION STRICKEN

Wyandot County Native Dies; Rites Set Wednesday.

Charles Willington Traxler, 60, died at his home at 225 North Main street at 9:30 p. m. Sunday following an illness of four days.

He was born July 31, 1882 in Wyandot county to John and Alice Bowlby Traxler, both natives of Wyandot county, and was married March 12, 1916 in Bucyrus to Cora Belle Oberlander who survives. Mr. Traxler had been a resident of Marion 15 years, having come here from Upper Sandusky. He was employed with the U. S. Rubber Co. here.

Surviving with his widow are seven children, Mrs. John Williams of Bucyrus, Mrs. Kerr Swick of Big Island, William Traxler of 612 North State street, Mrs. James A. Clark of 216½ North Main street, Thelma, Ruth and John at home, two sisters, Mrs. Alonzo Owings of 235 South High street and Mrs. Pearl Hero of 364 Cherry street, and a brother, Grover Traxler of Sycamore.

Funeral services will be conducted Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the Boyd-Uncapher funeral home West Columbia street by Rev. H. H. C. Ahrens, pastor of Salem Evangelical and Reformed church. Burial will be in Nevada cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after 7 o'clock tonight.

TEN MEN KILLED IN CRASH OF ARMY BOMBER

SIOUX CITY, Ia., Nov. 30—Ten men were killed today in the crash of an army plane a half mile southwest of the Sioux City air base, the post public relations office announced.

Capt. Fred Shick, post public relations officer, said all 10 men were dead when help reached the plane, which he said was on a routine flight.

The crash occurred about 2:15 a. m.

A guard was placed around the area immediately and no civilians were permitted near the craft.

Shick said the names and ranks of those killed in the crash would not be released until their next of kin had been notified.

Load of Chickens, Eggs Worth $2,000 Hijacked

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 30—Several gunmen hijacked a truckload of chickens and eggs valued at $2,000 on Route 251 a few miles east of the Pennsylvania-Ohio state line early today, state police reported.

Leonard J. Metz of Decatur, Ind., told police he was forced out of the truck at gunpoint and left standing in the road.

The driver, Arthur Leipply, brother-in-law of Metz, was bound and gagged and tossed in the rear seat of the bandits' car which then sped off toward Pittsburgh as some of the highwaymen drove the truck away. However, Leipply managed to roll free and was later found in the road.

OPA FOOD EXPERT TO VISIT MARION

To Come Wednesday for Retail Merchants' Problems.

C. W. Stolzenbury of Columbus, price specialist in the food section of the price division of OPA will be in Marion Wednesday afternoon to meet retail and wholesale food distributors of Marion and vicinity who wish to discuss individual problems.

Mr. Soltzenbury will be at the Chamber of Commerce office at 116 North State street, from 1:30 p. m. throughout the afternoon.

Food dealers are asked to call the Chamber of Commerce office, 3277, and schedule appointments.

Mr. Stolzenburg has had considerable experience in the distribution of food and food products, at both the wholesale and retail levels, according to Clifford L. James, state price officer, who arranged for the meeting in cooperation with the Marion county war price and rationing board.

bomb four enemy destroyers caught off New Britain. Two ships were hit definitely; others fled northward at full steam.

In still another area, American-piloted A-20 dive-bombers and Aussie-manned Beaufighters made a late evening and early morning attack on Lae airdrome, up the New Guinea coast from Buna.

Jap Ships Hit in Buna Raid

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Nov. 30 — General MacArthur's hard-hitting Flying Fortresses smashed another Japanese attempt to reinforce the harassed Buna garrison by setting fire to two enemy destroyers off the east coast of New Guinea yesterday and sending two others fleeing northward, an allied communique announced today.

Direct hits with 500-pound bombs were scored on the destroyers which were set aflame and both were believed to have sunk later, the announcement said.

The same bulletin also disclosed that allied naval forces had intercepted an 8,000-ton German auxiliary west of Australia, pounded the vessel with gunfire and captured 78 of the crew after they had scuttled their ship.

It was the first report of naval activity in that area in many months.

On the New Guinea land front American and Australian troops were reported maintaining steady pressure on Japanese forces clinging to a 10-mile strip of coast in Buna-Gona sector, but there apparently was little change in the general situation.

Farther up the coast allied planes made a surprise assault on the enemy airdrome at Lae, sweeping in from low altitudes in the face of heavy anti-aircraft fire.

"Five enemy fighters in dispersal bays were destroyed by strafing," said the communique. "Direct hits were scored with bombs on two other planes. In addition bomb clusters burst in the midst of a group of eight aircraft, probably destroying or damaging all."

Other medium bombers operating far to the east of New Guinea raided the Japanese airdrome at Kavieng, New Ireland, dropping high explosives on dispersal bays.

Japs Attempt New Foothold on Attu

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30—Their Kiska base under almost constant pounding by American bombers, the Japanese are attempting to secure a new foothold on the bleak little island of Attu, westernmost of the Aleutian chain.

The Navy disclosed yesterday that the enemy had reappeared on Attu by announcing army "Flying Fortresses" had attacked a small Japanese cargo vessel off the island, setting it afire with three bomb hits on Thanksgiving day. When last seen, the vessel appeared to be sinking.

The communique said fighters accompanying the "Fortresses" also had strafed enemy anti-aircraft installations on the island, indicating that the Japanese would attempt a show of resistance against attacks such as those that have made their Kiska base, 160 miles to the east, virtually useless. Attu lies about three-fourths of the way from Alaska to the Kurile Islands of Japan.

Former Resident Of Marion Taken by Death

Harry Gillette, 52, of Jeromesville, a former resident of Marion, died Friday of a heart ailment at his home. He had been ill since August. Funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon at the Fiske funeral home in Jeromesville and burial was made at that place.

Mr. Gillette was born at Norton, May 30, 1890 and prior to going with the Tracy and Avery Co. as a salesman, was employed with the gas company here. He went to Ashland from Marion in 1927.

Mr. Gillette's first marriage was to Miss Margie Mattison and following her death he married Miss Frances Wineberger. The widow and three children, Mrs. Charlotte Riess of Cleveland, a daughter by the first marriage and Rose Ann and Edson, at home survive. A brother, Clifford Gillette, also survives.

Mr. and Mrs. Cloyce Gillette of Delaware, Mrs. Flora Miller, Ed Graham and son, Clifford, and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wilson of Waldo attended the funeral services.

Churchill Gives Italy Strongest Warning of Doom

(This column, conducted as a daily feature by DeWitt Mackenzie, is written today by Glenn Babb, Mr. Mackenzie, now traveling in the African war zone, is expected to return in a day or two.)

Winston Churchill's broadcast yesterday contained the strongest warning he has yet given Italy, delivered in that voice of doom he employs so sonorously and flavored with the richest flow of scorn he has ever turned on Mussolini, who may be labelled for all history by Churchill's fruity epithets. But the warning Britain's prime minister gave Japan was no less ominous. While he pointed out to the "hard working, gifted and once-happy Italian people" a way of escape through repudiation of the man who has led them to their present plight, he offered Japan nothing more pleasant than the prospect of facing eventually the combined might of the United States and British armed forces, which then should be far the most formidable array of sea and air power the world has known.

"It may well be," Churchill said, "that the war in Europe will end before the war in Asia. The Atlantic may be calm while in the Pacific the hurricane rises to full pitch. If events should take such a course we should, of course, bring all our forces to the other side of the world to aid the United States, to aid China, to aid our kith and kin in Australia and New Zealand in the struggle against the aggressions of Japan."

Among men who know the situation in the orient there is a growing belief that this second chapter of the war may be as long, bitter and costly as the first, which will end with the destruction of Hitler. A long exhausting war in Europe, no matter who wins, probably would be more to the Japanese taste than a speedy, complete axis victory.

Events in faraway theaters soon may help determine how long and costly the Pacific chapter will be. There may be battles in Burma and southwest China in a very few weeks which will greatly lessen or enhance the United Nations' chances of coming to grips with Japan on a continental scale. If they should increase the isolation of China and rob us of the prospect of meeting the Japanese army on the continent of Asia, they may add years to the war.

AFRICA

dustrial city of Turin suddered to the impact of RAF bombs last night for the second time in 24 hours.

Shipping and harbors were blasted at three axis-held African ports and traffic along Marshal Rommel's road of escape toward Tripoli was strafed, while in Tunisia the fighting grew in intensity as the zero hour for the all-out land attack neared.

British Middle East headquarters said there was nothing to report on activities of Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's 8th army, getting its second wind after chasing Rommel's Afrika corps 800 miles across North Africa.

In Position for Attack

British and American forces standing astride the Tunis-Bizerte railroad at Djedeida, Tunisia, were in position for an assault on Tunis and observers here said a preliminary attack probably would be made on three axis-held airdromes around the city.

The fighting for the last toehold of the axis in Tunisia apparently was growing in intensity in the Bizerte-Tunis area and the Paris radio reported that fighting also was in progress near Sousse, on the coastal road some 70 miles southeast of Tunis.

French troops under General Henri Giraud had been reported active in this region earlier, apparently in an effort to prevent axis forces in Tripoli from reaching the German and Italian strongholds at Bizerte and Tunis.

The German-controlled Vichy radio said several allied attacks supported by tanks had been repulsed by axis troops in the coastal and central regions of Tunisia and 112 allied prisoners had been taken. Axis aircraft took part in the fight and shot down 16 allied planes, the Vichy radio claimed.

Town Occupied

The occupation of Djedeida by allied troops was reported in an allied communique yesterday which also said that operations in the vicinity of Mateur, another railroad junction about 25 miles south of Bizerte, were "proceeding satisfactorily."

By cutting the rail connections between the great naval base at Bizerte and Tunis, the allies restricted communication between the axis forces at the two cities to a coastal highway. The road should soon be under attack by allied artillery, however.

Then the British First army under Lieut. Gen. Kenneth A. N. Anderson and American troops would be in a position to attack the two strongholds one at a time with overwhelming strength. French military men have warned, however, that a successful assault on Bizerte will be a difficult operation.

Meanwhile, nearly 1,000 miles to the east, the British Eighth army under Gen. B. L. Montgomery was preparing for another major battle with the remnants of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's African corps at the Agheila bottleneck in Libya.

TO MEET AT CLARIDON

The Claridon Ladies' Aid society will hold an all day meeting Thursday with Mrs. A. B. Augenstein of near Claridon.

FIRST WOUNDED FROM FRENCH AFRICA SMILE ON ARRIVAL IN U.S.

Still able to smile, first wounded from the French North African invasion are shown in Washington where they arrived aboard a train specially prepared for them. Three weeks ago they took part in the British-American invasion. They arrived at a "port of entry" and started on journey to hospitals at Walter Reed hospital in Washington.

RUSSIA

ond break-through in this sector reported in two days.

Southwest of Stalingrad the Russian offensive also moved forward successfully, the mid-day communique reported, and another town and large stores of axis food and medical supplies were captured.

A special communique last night told how the Russians had driven from the Stalingrad-Krasnodar railroad line to capture the town of Oblinaya, 70 miles southeast of Kotelnikovski.

Within the long-besieged city of Stalingrad fighting continued and the Russians said their artillery destroyed 38 German dugouts and blockhouses and wiped out a battalion of enemy infantry.

On the central front northwest of Moscow Red troops with all their winter paraphernalia were rolling the numbed Germans back through the heavy snow and the mid-day communique announced capture of several inhabited communities.

Nazis Active In Caucasus

Only in the Caucasus did the Germans show any aggressive action. An infantry attack southeast of Nalchik supported by tanks was broken up by Russian artillery and machine guns, the communique said, and the Germans were forced back to their original positions.

Jubilant Russians said "the German army is facing the blackest moment since its invasion of Russia."

The Soviet newspaper Izvestia said there in the 10 days ending yesterday 100,000 Germans had been killed and the special communique reported that in the Stalingrad region alone 66,000 Germans had been captured in the same period.

The Germans continued to strike back and threw in reserves to stem the Russian advance, but the Russians said they were sweeping aside this resistance at most points.

HIMMLER IN TOULAN AS FLEET AFTERMATH

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Nov. 30 — Roundabout dispatches reported today that Heinrich Himmler, chief of the German Gestapo, had arrived in Toulon to deal with the aftermath of the destruction of the French home fleet by its own officers and men.

The Moscow radio broadcast a Tass dispatch datelined Geneva which said Himmler was at the French Mediterranean naval base while the Nazis were carrying on a campaign to arrest and punish all Frenchmen in the former unoccupied zone accused of opposing the German authorities or belonging to illegal organizations.

The Iris, a 597-ton French submarine, was reported immobilized at Barcelona, Spain, where her crew brought her for refuge after slipping out of the naval base at Toulon.

The Vichy radio said last night that in blacked-out Toulon rumblings of explosions in the scuttled French ships still could be heard.

From the Nazi-controlled Paris radio, meanwhile, came an accusation that Pierre Laval was responsible, if indirectly, for the suicide of the French fleet.

Three in One Family Die in Rail Crash

By The Associated Press

PAINESVILLE, O., Nov. 30—Three members of a Cleveland family are dead as a result of a train-automobile collision in near-by Mentor township.

Killed as their car was struck by a New York Central railroad passenger train last night were Volney S. Landon, 47; his wife Lillian, 48, and her daughter by a previous marriage, Hope Wiersma.

Deputy Sheriff Louis Graham of Lake county said the accident occurred at an unprotected crossing, but that the view of the tracks was not obscured.

MRS. SABINS DIES AT HOME OF DAUGHTER

Funeral Services To Be Held Wednesday at 1 P. M.

Mrs. Ida Sabins, 78, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Gertrude Bush, at 530 East Center street last night at 8:30 after an illness of several years.

She was born Jan. 20, 1864 in Arcola, Ill., to Robert and Elizabeth Culp Ramsey, the father a native of Pennsylvania and the mother of Ohio. She was married to Otis Sabins who preceded her in death in 1924. A resident of Marion for 18 years, she moved here from near Meeker. She attended Epworth Methodist church.

Surviving are Mrs. Bush and two other daughters, Mrs. John Mullins of East Columbia street and Mrs. Sidney Clinger of Morral, seven grandchildren and two great grandchildren, a sister, Mrs. W. H. Hodges of Harding Highway west and R. H. Ramsey of 365 Jefferson street.

CONVERSION PROGRAM SET FOR SIX OHIO CITIES

National Housing Agency Lists Places Chosen for Projects.

The federal government's program of leasing and remodeling existing homes to provide housing for war workers—a program recently announced for Marion—is contemplated in only six Ohio cities at present, The Associated Press reported today in a news dispatch from Cleveland.

The National Housing Agency there today said it would convert 3,200 privately owned structures in Cleveland, Akron and Dayton into homes for war workers, and that similar projects were contemplated for Canton, Warren and Marion. The program is being used only in areas where housing shortages exist.

Plans for putting the program into operation here were outlined at a recent meeting of interested persons. The maximum conversion expenditure is expected to be about $400 per room, with every effort made to hold the cost to a minimum.

NEW GRANARY CYCLE BEGINS

Market Men Believe Considerable Corn Will Be Held for U. S. Loans.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Nov. 30—A new cycle in the ever-normal corn granary program has begun and present prices, loan rates and supplies available suggest a substantial amount of 1942 grain may be stored for government loans market experts said today.

This is the tenth season in which the government has offered producers loans on stored corn. Since the program began in 1933, with loan rates starting at 45 cents and working up to the 1942 average of around 81 cents, more than 1,100,000,000 bushels have been sealed as collateral. Of this total 148,000,000 bushels remained sealed under loans on farms on Oct. 1 this year, while the government owned 41,000,000 bushels.

The following table, showing the record of the corn loan program gives the amount stored each year, the loan rate and top Chicago price in November of each year:

	Sealed	Loan Rate	Chicago Price
1933	267,758,000	$0.45	$0.50
1934	20,075,000	55	91
1935	30,976,000	45	82
1936	156,000	55	1.07
1937	47,177,000	50	.60
1938	229,839,000	57	.49
1939	301,837,000	57	53
1940	109,897,000	61	.65
1941	110,912,000	.74 6	74
1942		81	85

Grain men said this table shows that in years when Chicago prices were lowest in relation to the government loan rate, the amount sealed was heaviest. They pointed out that Chicago prices run several cents a bushel over the average rate received on the farm.

On the basis of 1942 loans offered producers, which traders estimated to about 81 cents on the commercial corn belt, or 6 cents more than a year ago, farmers can now obtain interest return by sealing their corn than by selling it on the open market. This margin is not big, experts said, but enough to encourage loaning grain on farms especially when there is a record livestock feeding demand. Corn sealed for loans can be recleaned and sold or fed at any time.

Traders also pointed out that the supply of corn available in the commercial channels, totaling 3,677,000,000 bushels, including new crop and carryover, is 300,000,000 more than a year ago. However, livestock on hand is greater.

Bad News

The rumble of early traffic — the shrill [illegible]man's whistle—the [illegible]s of newsboys rose [illegible] below. Rita opened [illegible]y, luxuriously, and [illegible]ment again. For a [illegible]ment she lived over [illegible] of glorious hours she [illegible]h Clark. [illegible]ringing of the tele- [illegible] Rita abruptly back to a world of vivid realities. Lifting the instrument quickly from its cradle she heard a woman's clipped words.

"Miss Rita Ralston?" the voice said.

"Speaking."

"This is the First National Bank. Mr. Cunningham's private secretary speaking."

Rita's heart leaped at the words.

"Yes," she managed a little dryly.

"It's about your appointment today with Mr. Cunningham. He was called out of the city on business and instructed me to tell you that he was not able to get the directors to extend the time on the loan. He was sorry and—"

But that was all that Rita heard. Tears were choking her, she tried to control them — somehow she managed to say "Goodbye," and drop the phone back in its cradle.

For a moment she sat rigid—motionless on the edge of the bed and then the tears came, not stinging tears that flooded down her lovely cheeks. She flung herself across the bed and shook with convulsive sobs. Slowly, gradually, her mind began to function again.

She reasoned with herself—she wasn't a child, and above all she wasn't a coward. She must go on some way. There must be some other solution. She would find a way out—she must, she must, so much depended on it.

Retreat

Again Rita picked up the telephone and asked the desk clerk to connect her with the Grand Central. There was a westbound train leaving in just two hours—if she hurried she could make it. Getting home now did not seem so imperative.

But she seemed to be driven by an inner urgency that bordered on frenzy. She must think before she talked with her father—think hard and work out some plan to offer him. Even the luncheon date with Clark could not keep her now.

She packed her few things hurriedly and took the elevator to the lobby floor. Stopping at a writing desk she dashed off a few brief words to Clark, paid her bill and left. She glanced at her wristwatch as she stepped into the warm sunlight that was flooding the street.

"It's time for Clark to be here now," she muttered to herself.

Just as Rita's cab was pulling away from the curb another cab eased to a stop behind it. Clark Pasquin got out and with long, swinging strides entered the Hotel Cheltenham. Smiling at the pinch-faced man behind the desk he said—

"Ring Miss Rita Ralston's room, please."

"Miss Ralston checked out not over two minutes ago," the clerk said reaching into the mailbox behind him. "Here's a note for Mr. Clark Pasquin, isn't that you?"

Clark frowned as a puzzled look crossed his face. He tore open the envelope and read the hurriedly written words.

"Thanks so much for everything—things have gone wrong for me—will explain later—believe me when I say knowing you has been something I shall never forget. Love, Rita."

Clark folded the note slowly and slipped it in his coat pocket. There was a strange light of concern in his blue eyes as he went from the somber light of the hotel lobby into the glare of the street.

His line swept the line of cars drawn to the curb for a taxi when suddenly he saw a familiar face smiling at him from the rear of a limousine—a finger beckoned. Swinging open the door of the car he smiled at Gloria Cunningham.

"So nice seeing you again," Gloria said with enthusiasm.

"Thanks," said Clark. "Was your party a big success?"

"Definitely," cooed Gloria.

The Lie

Nervously Clark glanced at his wristwatch. "Well I must be getting along. See you again, I hope." He turned to leave, but Gloria's words stopped him.

"Better join Rita and me for luncheon."

I was to have had lunch with Miss Ralston but they just told me here that she checked out a few minutes ago," Clark said flatly.

"Checked out?" Gloria let her voice rise incredulously. "Why she couldn't have done that! Not to father! When he tried to help her!"

Clark was staring at her in sudden attention, puzzled concern growing in his face. "Will you explain that please?" he said quietly. "[illegible]"

Gloria hid a sparkle of triumph by bending forward to direct the chauffeur through the speaking tube.

"The Waldorf." Then she turned back to Clark with distracted concern.

"I'll tell you what I know," she said at luncheon. "I—I feel a little weak I mean—I can't believe that an attractive girl like Rita would deliberately do it. I can't."

"Do what?" Clark got into the car automatically, and it swung out into the traffic.

"Disappear — after my father asked her to explain what had been done with a large sum of money entrusted to her," Gloria said slowly.

Many Marion Area Schools To Open Basketball Season This Wee

Harding, St. Mary and County Teams To See First Action.

GASOLINE and tire rationing permitting, Marion Harding, Marion St. Mary and the 12 Class B schools comprising the Marion county league are among schools in this area scheduled to open the 1942-43 basketball season in games Friday night.

Coach Dewey N. Bohyer will take his Harding cagemen to Delaware Friday night to run up the curtain against a veteran Delaware Willis team. The game will be played in the Willis High school gym.

St. Mary's Dan Coffey, 1942 champion of the Central district Class B tourney a year ago and one of the 16 teams in Ohio to win state Class B tourney berths, go to Harpster Friday night for their initial action.

Allowed 10 Games

A six-game card inaugurates the county league Friday night also. The 1942 edition of conserving gasoline and tires, school officials have worked out what amounts to a three-league schedule. The county has been divided into three separate divisions. Comprising one loop are Pleasant, Green Camp, Prospect and Waldo. Section No. 2 includes Claridon, Caledonia, Martel and Kirkpatrick. No. 3 section includes LaRue, Morral, Meeker and Agosta.

Friday's schedule follows: Pleasant at Green Camp, Prospect at Waldo, Claridon at Caledonia, Martel at Kirkpatrick, LaRue at Morral, and Meeker at Agosta.

Six league games in all will be played by each of the 12 league schools. A maximum of four non-league games may also be played by each team.

First league games will be staged this week in Union, Marrow and Hardin counties. Play begins in the Wyandot county league next week and in the Crawford county loop early in January.

Delaware Co. League

Each team in the Delaware county circuit already has played two games and at present five teams are tied for first place. In a first place stalemate are Ostrander, Radnor, Sunbury, Powell and Berlin. Harlem, defending league champion, has broken even in its first two games.

Schedule for county teams in the Marion area is printed elsewhere on today's sport page.

OHIO STATE, GEORGIA VIE FOR NO. 1 SPOT

Brown Candidate for "Coach of the Year" Honors.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 30—Ohio State came up today with perhaps THE football team of the nation and THE coach of the year.

The Bucks were expected to vie with Georgia for the No. 1 spot in the Associated Press poll of gridiron experts as the result of a decisive 41 to 12 victory Saturday over the powerful Iowa Seahawks. Ohio rated third last week behind Georgia Tech and Boston college, both of which were defeated Saturday.

Paul Brown, 33-year-old Ohio State coach with only two defeats in two tries on "big time" collegiate competition since he jumped from the high school ranks, easily was an outstanding candidate for "coach of the year" honors.

Already Western conference champion, Ohio demonstrated against the Seahawks regardless of a great football team—speed, power, deception, scoring precision and defensive alertness.

The victory over the seasoned Seahawks of Lt. Col. Bernie Bierman, Ohio's ninth in 10 games, again was a team triumph. Every Ohio man in the lineup played some kind of a starring role. And as a team triumph, it was a tribute to the coaching skill of Brown.

Unable to plow through the much heavier Seahawk line, Ohio used its speed to run around the ends and to take to the air lanes with almost uncanny results. The Bucks completed six out of seven passes.

Standouts offensively were Capt. George Lynn of Niles, who turned in another stellar job of quarterbacking, Halfbacks Paul Sarringhaus of Hamilton, Les Horvath of Cleveland and Tommy James of Massillon, Fullback Gene Fekete, and End Robert Shaw of Fremont.

The 41 to 12 score provided the answer to what a well conditioned speedy but smaller team could do with an array of slower ex-college and pro stars.

"Ohio State had the speed—and a swell set of backs," said Colonel Bierman, the former Minnesota mentor.

A captain for 1943 will be chosen at the team's appreciation dinner tonight. Lynn, eligible for another year, would probably have been re-elected, but he will not play football next year. He completes his college work next August, and plans to enter the Navy.

Galion Grid Star Still Second in Pointmaking Race

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 30 — Although Bob Steuber of Missouri and Gene Fekete of Ohio State increased their scoring totals in last week's games, neither did it with enough fervor to threaten the leadership of Eddie McGovern of Rose Poly, whose team completed its season two weeks ago.

Steuber remains in third place with 114 points to 165 for McGovern and has another chance this Saturday. With the Iowa Pre-Flight team furnishing the opposition, however, it is unlikely that the Missouri halfback will wipe out the 51-point difference.

James Secrest of Galion, O., Rochester halfback who also has been idle the past two weeks, retains second place with 133 tallies and Frank Sinkwich of Georgia is fourth with 96. A touchdown and five conversions against the Iowa Seahawks Saturday lifted Fekete to an aggregate of 92.

GIVE 'EM SAME MEDICINE

NEW YORK — After the last game of the series had gone against the Cardinals in the World series and the Yankees had come to St. Louis triumphant, a reporter laughingly asked Manager Billy Southworth whom he would pitch in the next game. Billy answered by saying he would start them for four innings.

- - Here They Are, The "Big Ten" All-Stars - -

Chosen by Big Nine coaches as outstanding in the 1942 football season, the 11 gridiron stalwarts have been named to The Associated Press' Western conference all-star team. By position, they are: Ends, Bob Shaw of Ohio State and Dave Schreiner of Wisconsin; tackles, Dick Wildung of Minnesota and Al Wistert of Michigan, guards, Julius Franks of Michigan and Lindel Houston of Ohio State; center, Frank Negus of Wisconsin; quarterback, George Ceithaml of Michigan; halfbacks, Billy Hillenbrand of Indiana and Elroy Hirsch of Wisconsin; fullback, Pat Harder of Wisconsin.

EX-HARDING STAR ON WOOSTER CAGE TEAM

Dale Hudson One of Five Returning Lettermen.

Special to The Star

WOOSTER, O., Nov. 30—Dale Hudson, former Marion Harding basketball star, is one of the veterans on the Wooster college basketball squad. He is the son of Major and Mrs. C. A. Hudson, now living in Columbus.

Hudson is a junior at Wooster. As a sophomore last year he won letters in basketball and track.

Hudson is taking a premedic course. He will complete his requirements here early next spring and has been accepted by the medical school of Ohio State university, to enter there at the coming spring quarter.

The Wooster cagers face a 16-game schedule this season if transportation difficulties can be overcome. The Scots open against Duquesne at Pittsburgh Dec. 14 and return to Ohio to play John Carroll at Cleveland Dec. 16.

Coach Mose Hale, beginning his 17th season as Wooster's head basketball coach, is building his squad around four returning lettermen. They are Captain Rich Sproull, guard; Harry Eicher, center; Jerry Katherman and Hudson, forwards.

Since Hale took charge of Wooster basketball teams, his teams have won 207 games and lost 73. Last season Wooster won 19 of 21 games.

Houston and Shaw Only Bucks To Make First Team.

CHICAGO, Nov. 30—Wisconsin placed four men—including two sophomores—on the 1942 Western conference all-star football team chosen annually for The Associated Press by Big Nine coaches.

The Badgers, who lost only one game and missed a chance to tie Ohio State for the conference championship because they played one less contest than the Buckeyes, landed End Dave Schreiner, Sophomore Center Frank Negus from Martins Ferry, O., Sophomore Halfback Elroy Hirsch and Fullback Pat Harder on the all-star squad.

The coaches placed three Michigan men on the team — Guard Julius Franks, Tackle Al Wistert and Quarterback George Ceithaml, while Ohio States Big Nine champ were represented by End Robert Shaw of Fremont, O., and Guard Lindel Houston of Massillon, O. Minnesota's Dick Wildung rated the other tackle position and Indiana's Billy Hillenbrand clinched the other halfback berth. Wildung, Schreiner and Hillenbrand are repeat performers from last year's all-star team. Two other 1941 stars who performed again this fall failed to retain their places on the select squad, Bob Motl of Northwestern rating the second team at end and Bill Daley of Minnesota, handicapped most of the season by injuries, drawing honorable mention.

Sarringhaus Edged Out

The only positions contested closely were at guard, where Illinois' Alex Agase was barely edged out; at center, where Melvin Pregulman of Michigan missed tying Negus by one point; and at halfback, where Michigan's Tom Kuzma, Ohio State's Paul Sarringhaus and Northwestern's Otto Graham lost out by a point or two.

CHICAGO BEARS WIN 47 TO 0 OVER RAMS

Champions' Line Stalemates Clevelanders.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Nov. 30 — After watching his Cleveland Rams battered 47 to 0 yesterday, Dutch Clark applauded the Chicago Bears' line with a few words of praise—which was only natural for his team had a minus 12 yards trying to break through it.

"That line is a marvel," he shuddered.

The Bears rolled to their biggest victory margin of the season in reaching the milestone of 23 games without defeat, 17 in the National football league action.

The National champions close their regular schedule Sunday against the Cards at Comiskey park and a win would give them their first unbeaten, untied campaign, since 1934.

Other final games send Pittsburgh against Green Bay at Milwaukee and Brooklyn to New York.

Washington completed its best league season in 11 years yesterday by pounding the Detroit Lions 15 to 2, the Pittsburgh Steelers shut out the Brooklyn Dodgers 13 to 0, the New York Giants beat the Cardinals 21 to 7, and the Packers pressed through the Philadelphia Eagles 7 to 0.

UNION TO REMEMBER MEMBERS IN SERVICE

CIO Group with 300 in Service To Gather Addresses.

If plans of Local No. 1049, United Steel Workers of America materialize, the more than 300 members now serving with the armed forces will receive cards and remembrances regularly for the duration. The initial step will be taken this week with the establishment of an information desk in the Lennon Furniture Co. store on West Center street where women of the auxiliary to the local will be stationed Wednesday, Thursday and Friday to receive the addresses of the service men.

Wives, mothers, sisters, brothers and friends of the men are asked to cooperate with the local by providing the correct addresses at the desk and giving this information to the women in charge. The women will work in shifts throughout the three days.

Tuesday the large service flag, made by Mrs. Norval Foreman, together with the honor roll bearing the names of the local members in service, made by William Davis, will be placed in the store window. The flag, 78 by 56 inches, marked with 77 stars, was dedicated last March. The flag bears one gold star in memory of Ralph Coffey.

The local has purchased a large number of greeting cards which will be prepared by the women of the auxiliary headed by Mrs. Kenneth Davis, president, and Mrs. Willard Benson, secretary. Persons having knowledge of any of the members reported missing or in hospitals are asked to write or telephone Mrs. Harry Baker of 569 North State street, chairman of this detail of the information requested. The women of the auxiliary have, since the men entered service, endeavored to send packages or remembrances to them, but this has been difficult as information could be obtained only by driving or walking to the homes of relatives.

According to a check of the local's roster more than 14 per cent of the membership is made up of ex-service men who are hoping to make a success of the project.

FARMER RUNT PIG IN LABOR PROBLEM

By The Associated Press

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 30—Secretary of Agriculture Wickard, asserting that farming had been "the runt pig in the litter" as far as the nation's manpower was concerned, said today he was glad that Americans had recently become concerned about their food supply.

In a speech prepared for a regional meeting of farm officials, the secretary said the concern over food was making the nation realize that agriculture must have manpower before it can produce.

The 1943 program calls for the largest output of food in the country's history to meet military, lend-lease, foreign relief and domestic requirements.

"All along I have been afraid," he said, "that most people would not see the critical situation until they read it in declining farm production figures.

"Even now," he added, "the new recognition does not come soon enough to save farmers from a very tight manpower squeeze. About a million and a half workers have left farms during the past year. We will have to make the best we can, and be thankful that the rest of the country is coming to realize what we are up against."

As it is, Wickard said, farmers will have to work "from dawn until after sundown" to meet their production goals.

ITALIANS HEAR GRIM WARNING

Churchill's Speech Continues To Pound Over Air Waves.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Nov. 30—Prime Minister Churchill's warning to the Italian people to get out of the war or expect a "prolonged calamitous and shattering blitz" was followed up by repeated attacks by Allied warplanes on Italy's vital port of Genoa, prime minister's home town and scene of speech advising Germany and France as well as Italy.

Churchill predicted last night that the war would be extended to Italy as a matter not to be taken lightly by its guilty leaders and added:

"It is for the Italian people to say whether they want this terrible thing to happen to them or not."

He reviewed Allied strategy on the Atlantic and Russian fronts, discussed what he called a "reunion" with France and "a great liberation" and spoke somberly of the portents of 1943 as Italian men turn "in the face of waters."

"I promise nothing, I predict nothing," Churchill said. "I dare not even guarantee that more successes are now on the way."

"The dawn of 1943 will soon loom red before us and we must brace ourselves to cope with the trials and problems of what must be a stern and terrible year."

The Russian battles are "moving forward to a climax" and weakened German divisions must prepare themselves he said, "for a second dose of what they got last year."

But England's war leader also warned his audience "I know of nothing that has happened yet which justifies the hope that the war will not be long or that bitter bloody years do not lie ahead. It may be that the War in Europe will come to an end before the war in Asia."

FOUR CALLS ANSWERED BY FIRE DEPARTMENT

TAX SELLING DROPS STOCKS

Prices Decline but No Outstanding Weakness Develops in List.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 30 — Stocks generally stumbled in today's market without developing outstanding weakness.

Tax selling persisted as the principal anti-recovery factor and further good war news brought considerable switching of share holdings. Liquidation of armament stocks, however, seemed to have dried up appreciably.

Bonds and commodities were mixed.

Sears Roebuck was among the few shares to edge into new high ground for 1942. American Telephone was an isolated strong spot. DuPont, Dow Chemical, American Water Works, Texas Co., and Oliver Farm were supported. Backward were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Kennecott, American Can, Douglas Aircraft, U. S. Rubber and Eastman Kodak.

Analysts were not especially perturbed by the recent erratic market shifts.

CORN PRICES UP BUT OTHERS LAG

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Nov. 30 — Corn prices were up as much as a cent a bushel at one time today to the highest quotations for almost two months but other cereals lagged behind and wheat turned fractionally lower.

Liquidation of December contracts prior to the delivery period starting tomorrow depressed all grains to some extent but strong industrial demand for corn, with country offerings and receipts limited, more than offset this. Cash corn prices were the highest since mid-August and No. 2 yellow sold above 87, at the best premium over December futures so far this season.

Veteran Bicycle Dealer at Bucyrus Stricken

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Nov. 30—Joseph Elmer Swank, 77, bicycle dealer and repairman here for more than 30 years, died of pneumonia at 8 p. m. Saturday at his home here. A native of Logan county, he was engaged in business in DeGraff and Upper Sandusky before coming to Bucyrus in 1900.

Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Anna Rose Bee Swank, and two children, Donald Bee and Miss Ethel Irene Swank, both of Columbus, and one sister, Mrs. Ellen Kaylor of DeGraff. Mr. Swank was featured by Ripley several years ago in connection with the mileage covered by him in riding his bicycle to and from work throughout the years.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Tuesday at the Wise funeral home and burial will be made in Oakwood cemetery.

Cardington Man Dies Suddenly at Home

Special to The Star

CARDINGTON, Nov. 30 — A heart attack suffered shortly after he had returned to the house after feeding the chickens and sweeping the snow off the walks caused the death of Albert C. Hart, 82, retired farmer, at his home yesterday at 8:30 a. m.

He was a native of Westfield township, born there June 3, 1860 and prior to moving to Cardington 22 years ago had lived on a farm near here.

Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Laura Hart, a daughter, Mrs. Mary Davis of 155 North State street, Marion, and one brother, Marion Hart of Matengo.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Tuesday at the home and burial will be in Forest Glen Memorial park in Marion.

Navy Club Flag To Be Dedicated

The Navy club and auxiliary will dedicate a service flag tonight. The dedication services will be broadcast over station WMRN from 7:30 to 8 p. m.

Arthur L. Watt, co-chairman of the Navy club life saver fund, will make the dedication speech and Charles F. Silber, local recruiting officer, will unveil the flag on which there are 50 stars. Frank Butterworth will sing a solo accompanied by Ed Beach at the piano and Mr. Beach will play two piano solos. The invocation and benediction will be given by Rev. John Carriker, pastor of Forest Lawn Presbyterian church. Louis Mark, program director of WMRN, will act as master of ceremonies.

Following the dedication services members of the Navy club and the auxiliary and their wives and husbands will hold a party in the club rooms.

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

ALL TRACE of romantic sympathy with Georges in his interest in Mary vanished when he asked me if it would be possible for him to see her at the hideaway, adding Olina's name and Noel's as a perfunctory afterthought. Now my resentment against Georges made me ready to thwart his romantic plans, if he had any, without compunction.

"I am sorry, Georges," I said, perhaps hypocritically, "but I am afraid you won't be able to receive any visitors at the hideaway. You will be comfortable in that sanctuary, but my father uses part of it for other purposes, and does not want any visitors."

He flushed at the rebuff, and raised his head with a touch of his old regal arrogance.

"I must crave your pardon," he said, with no humility in his tone. "I did not understand. Perhaps it will be better if I do not trouble him at all. I have no claim upon him or upon you."

He rose as he spoke, but I grasped his shoulders and pushed him down into his chair, then stood above him, smiling as if at a child in a tantrum.

Dignity Affronted

"My husband, Georges," I said softly, "sometimes adjures me not to be an idiot just because I know how. I think now I must pass that advice along to you."

He struggled with his dignity and pique for a moment, then threw back his head and laughed aloud. It was not a real care-free laugh, but it held genuine amusement and relief, and I saw that I should have no more trouble with him.

"You are simply priceless, Aunt Madge," he said, and I remembered that Georges always had loved what he called "American vernacular." Then he caught my hands as they released him.

"I warn you that you are going to get kissed soundly for that," he said, and at once made good his threat. I knew my father was listening behind the camouflaged door, and my face was crimson as I pulled myself away from him.

"Georges!" I said rebukingly but his mood now was both reckless and mirthful.

Removes Disguise

"Aunt Madge, you're actually blushing!" he said laughing. "Let me get up, and I'll go down on my knees or grovel on the floor—anything to atone for causing you embarrassment. But I don't understand why—"

"I don't expect you to," I interrupted, "and it isn't necessary that you should. Suppose we let it stand at this: I am not offended, but don't do it again."

"That's an awful punishment for an involuntary crime," he said, "but I'll promise to be a good boy."

Then with sudden remembrance he gave his false beard a vicious jerk.

"Boy!" he said, and I knew by his wince that he had forgotten how firmly the beard was fastened to his skin. He hadn't budged it.

"You ought to get a good laugh out of that," he said, then started as a light knock sounded on the outer door of my studio.

"Sit down, George," I said, and there was a command in my voice. "I am afraid there is a visitor for me. You are going to have your wish. That is Mary's knock."

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Medical Manpower

A LOOMING shortage in medical personnel for the war effort has come to my attention more than once lately. In this country we do not have a system of medical conscription as in some of the countries of Europe, but we are ready to make use of it in the process of our education.

The Army and Navy are ready to exempt those people from the draft, should they wish to finish their education and take their hospital internship. Also, freshman classes were doubled in the Fall of 1941 and when the tempo of medical education was changed an enrollee in one of freshman student in the spring of 1942.

These students all are "frozen" for military duty. Many of them are now in the service, but at the present time there are a number of young men of draft age who under normal circumstances would study medicine. A great many of these are afraid of "freezing" if they go into medical study now because it means they will be in civilian occupation for at least five years. Some of the more forward-looking medical colleges have already selected and frozen college students who will enter medical school in the Spring of 1943 and 1944, but that still leaves a large group unprovided for.

The problem is a very serious one because it means that possibly for several years after 1948 medical schools will graduate a very much smaller class of physicians and this, added to the shortage which already exists in military as well as civilian medical manpower, will be a serious hazard.

It would be foolish to point out this problem without having some suggestions as to how to deal with it and after thinking it over, I have the following tentative plan to propose in the first place, women should be encouraged as much as possible to study medicine.

In many schools as much as 5 per cent of the student personnel is made up by women and there is no reason why this shouldn't be increased to 10 or 20 per cent. I believe the Surgeon General's Office working with the American Medical Association and the deans of colleges should select young men who have a natural "flair" towards medicine (for instance the sons of physicians) and designate them for medical training.

As soon as the medical student is taken up by the Army or Navy, he is given a commission in the Reserve Corps. But I believe that besides this, medical students selected by the Surgeon General's Office should be put in uniform and given a rank and pay commensurate with their training in school for example, the rank and pay of a private in the first year, a corporal in the second year, a sergeant in the third year, a top sergeant in the senior year and a second lieutenant in the interne year.

The uniform will protect them from the cry of "slacker" and the pay will solve a very serious problem that occurs to many medical students of working in their vacations in order to pay their way through school. There are about 20,000 medical students in the medical schools in the United States at present so that this would not make a very serious a call on the Treasury.

The Stars Say—

For Tuesday, Dec. 1

ACCORDING to the lunar and mutual aspects of important planets, it may be difficult to make any kind of worthwhile progress on this day. It might be just as well to plod along in routine grooves and with as much patience and equilibrium as is possible under depressing circumstances. It may be useless to attempt to force the issues or to quarrel with fate. The frustrating condition probably prevails in domestic, social, intellectual and affectional affairs.

Those whose birthday it is may have to become reconciled to a year of successive difficulties, limitations and impediments, manifest in affairs generally, business as well as personal. But little progress is to be expected.

A child born on this day may have a tendency to deep or introspective thought, or to be melancholy. Health must be guarded.

Waste material accumulating for centuries around slate quarries in Cornwall and Wales is being ground into coarse powder for use in camouflage paint or into a finer powder as a filler in paints used as undercoats for metallic surfaces.

Flash Gordon By Lyman Young

NO HOLDS ARE BARRED WHEN TIGRA FACES A RIVAL IN LOVE. SHE TAKES FLASH AND DALE ON A TREE-LION HUNT, MOUNTED ON SAVAGE LEOPARD-HORSES.
SOME PEOPLE ARE AFRAID TO RIDE LOPARS. DO YOU WANT TO QUIT, DALE?
NO! I'LL MANAGE THIS BEAST SOMEHOW.
OH, SORRY, TIGRA—DID I SCARE YOU?
DON'T BE FOOLISH. I CAN RIDE ANY LOPAR THAT EVER LIVED!
FLASH SEES THAT TIGRA IS DELIBERATELY EXCITING DALE'S MOUNT... SO HE "ACCIDENTALLY" CROWDS TIGRA'S LOPAR TO KEEP HER BUSY...

LISTEN, OFFICER! A SPEEDING TRUCK MUST HAVE SHOT OUT OF THIS SIDE STREET NOT TEN MINUTES AGO! YOU'VE GOT TO HELP US CATCH IT, SIR —
WHAT DO YOU THINK I'M SITTING IN — A PURSUIT PLANE? THAT TRUCK'S COVERED PLENTY OF GROUND BY NOW —
WAIT! WHAT'S THAT HANDLE YOU'RE HOLDING?
IT'S A MANUAL SIGNAL LEVER — CONTROLS THE AVENUE TRAFFIC LIGHTS FOR SEVERAL MILES IN EITHER DIRECTION
YOWEE! THAT'S ALL I NEED TO KNOW! MOVE OVER, PAL!...

SAY! AREN'T YOU COOKIE SMITH?
WHY, TILLIE JONES! I'LL BE RIGHT OUT, AS SOON AS I CHANGE MY UNIFORM
GOSH, IT'S WONDERFUL TO FIND SOMEBODY HERE I KNOW, EVEN IF I DO SCARCELY KNOW HER
OH, IT'S SO GOOD TO SEE SOMEONE FROM HOME, AND AREN'T YOU PROUD TO BE WEARING THIS UNIFORM? I AM
YES
BUT, MERCY, MY DEAR, YOU WON'T BE PROUD IF YOU GET CAUGHT WEARING THAT FATIGUE HAT WITH THAT SERVICE UNIFORM

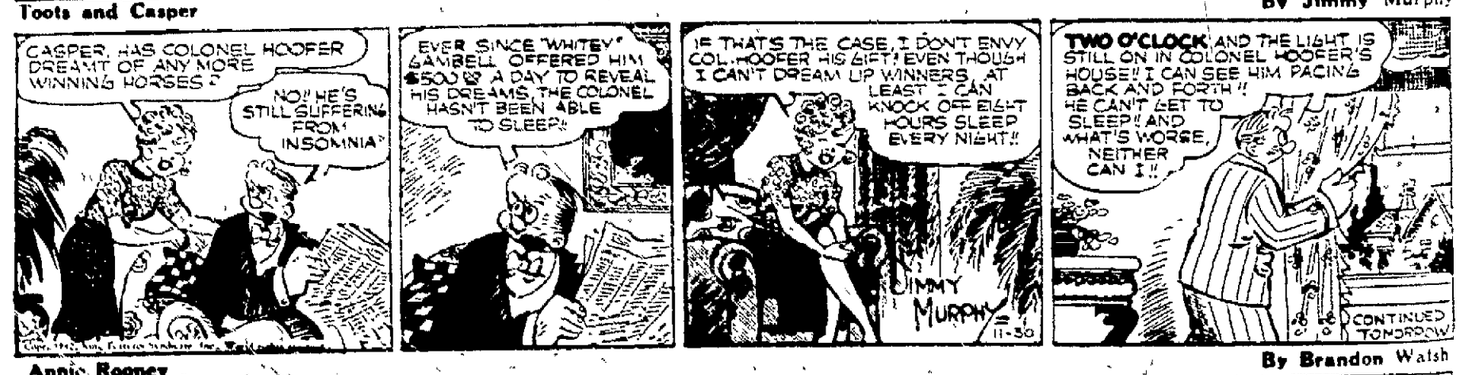
Toots and Casper By Jimmy Murphy



CASPER, HAS COLONEL HOOFER DREAMT OF ANY MORE WINNING HORSES?
NO! HE'S STILL SUFFERING FROM INSOMNIA
EVER SINCE "WHITEY" CAMBELL OFFERED HIM $500 A DAY TO REVEAL HIS DREAMS, THE COLONEL HASN'T BEEN ABLE TO SLEEP!
IF THAT'S THE CASE, I DON'T ENVY COL. HOOFER HIS GIFT! EVEN THOUGH I CAN'T DREAM UP WINNERS, AT LEAST I CAN KNOCK OFF EIGHT HOURS SLEEP EVERY NIGHT!!
JIMMY MURPHY 11-30
TWO O'CLOCK AND THE LIGHT IS STILL ON IN COLONEL HOOFER'S HOUSE! I CAN SEE HIM PACING BACK AND FORTH! HE CAN'T GET TO SLEEP! AND WHAT'S WORSE, NEITHER CAN I!

Annie Rooney By Brandon Walsh

MRS. RANCE MUST NEVER KNOW THAT MR AND MRS. SMUDGE, THE HEARTLESS CARETAKER'S SHE TRUSTED AND ALWAYS TREATED WITH GENEROUS KINDNESS, ARE A PAIR OF CRAFTY, RAISE-HEARTED CRIMINALS —
SHE NEVER SUSPECTED THE INHUMAN CREATURES KIDNAPED HER BABY MORE THAN THIRTY YEARS AGO, AND WATCHED THE POOR, HEART-BROKEN MOTHER'S SUFFERING THRU ALL THE LONG, LONELY YEARS
THERE, THERE, HONEY — I'M SORRY I MADE YOU CRY — SMUDGE IS IN THE HOSPITAL — THE WISE OLD COBBLER'S PLAN SCARED HIM INTO CONFESSING HIS GUILT
IS THE BABY ALIVE?
SMUDGE IS STILL DELIRIOUS — BUT FROM HIS INCOHERENT RAVING, THE DOCTORS HAVE DECIDED THE CHILD IS ALIVE AND WELL
GLORY BE! GOSH!

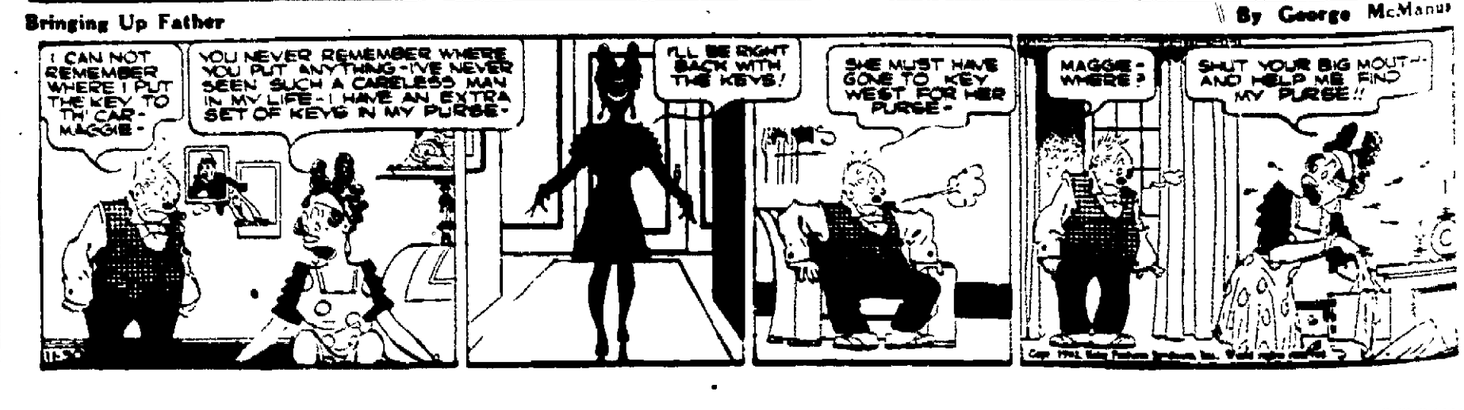
Bringing Up Father By George McManus



I CAN NOT REMEMBER WHERE I PUT THE KEY TO TH' CAR — MAGGIE —
YOU NEVER REMEMBER WHERE YOU PUT ANYTHING — I'VE NEVER SEEN SUCH A CARELESS MAN IN MY LIFE — I HAVE AN EXTRA SET OF KEYS IN MY PURSE —
I'LL BE RIGHT BACK WITH THE KEYS!
SHE MUST HAVE GONE TO KEY WEST FOR HER PURSE — MAGGIE — WHERE?
SHUT YOUR BIG MOUT — AND HELP ME FIND MY PURSE!!
